On the Burma war front, Chinese military dispatches acknowledged that Japan's invasion armies pushing up the Burma road had driven almost 25 miles into China proper after capturing the Chinese town of Whiting, on the Burma-China frontier.

Report Bitter Fighting

Bitter fighting was reported [illegible] as the American Lieut.-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's outnumbered Chinese troops sought to stem the Japanese tide sweeping through China's back door.

The Chinese did not have enough time to destroy the Burma road in the Whiting area.

The army spokesman said that Chinese troops still were fighting around Mandalay, Burmese city which has fallen to the Japanese.

He denied that the towns of Bhamo in Burma 40 miles west of the Chinese border, and Myitkina, 50 miles northeast of Bhamo and about 75 miles west of the Yunnan border, had been captured by the enemy or that Japanese forces had entered Yunnan province from occupied French Indo-China.

He said that it was impossible for the Japanese to gain complete control of Burma with their present strength estimated at five divisions.

FARMERS IN WAR PLANT AREA MEET

Tentative Plans for Protests Discussed.

Tentative plans for protests against [illegible] and methods" used in acquiring the Scioto Ordnance Plant site by the federal government were discussed at a meeting of [illegible] and attorneys last night in the township house at Richwood.

At the close of the meeting, the matter was left up to the individual landowners to take up their own problems, many of them differing from one another, with their attorneys. The possibility of federal court action was discussed.

A hope was expressed that the acquisition deadline of next Saturday for persons living in the area might be extended.

A talk was given by Sam Dorsey, a [illegible] real, private land appraiser with experience in a number of cases. O. C. McCurdy was elected chairman of the group that [illegible]ded. Brief remarks were made by a numeer of landowners and several Marion attorneys.

Mass Meeting Sets Stage For Bond Pledge Drive

500 Women Ready To Begin Canvass Friday; State War Savings Official Speaks.

Challenged by four war and peace-winning objectives, some 500 Marion women prepared today to set forth in the city's most gigantic campaign of recent years—Marion's share in the billion-dollar-a-month-pledge campaign for war bonds and stamps.

The three-day drive, scheduled to start Friday, but under way this morning in localities of workers anxious to further the war prosecution, was launched officially last night in The Star auditorium in one of the most spirited public gatherings in recent years.

The workers bent to their task under the challenge of Harold Bredlow of Cleveland, executive secretary of Ohio's war savings staff and representative of the United States treasury department. He was the principal speaker at the mass meeting, at the close of which the canvassers received campaign material such as pledge window stickers and government pledge forms from their precinct and ward captains, men of the Kiwanis club which is sponsoring the canvass in the city.

Objectives of Drive

The four objectives toward which they have volunteered, as outlined by Mr. Bredlow, are:

Financing of war expenditures; check of inflation; check of taxes, and the financing of peace after the war.

Asking that the men and women concentrate for a moment on their inner feelings if their sons, husbands or brothers were among the 45,000 men on battered Corregidor—none known definitely to be dead, alive, wounded or prisoners of war — and speaking in terms which gave full solemnity to the thought, Mr. Bredlow outlined the four objectives of the canvass and stressed that it is not for any purpose other than to make a survey of funds upon which the government can depend to wage the war and win the peace.

"When you get the feelings of those families of men on Corregidor firmly in your mind, then you are qualified to think as a good red-blooded American must think today of his responsibility in this war," he declared. "Place yourselves as a relative of a boy on Corregidor or one who passed into oblivion on Bataan — what would your thoughts be tonight about this war? People who have that direct relationship to the seriousness of this war you can bet your lives will never have excuses for not applying themselves to the job of winning this war. Can you imagine a person who has a loved one over there tonight who would say it is more important to go to a bridge party, do this or that, if there was something they could do to help smash these people who are trying to crush free people today?"

Objectives Explained

Here briefly, are the explanations Mr. Bredlow gave of the four objectives of the war bond and stamp pledge campaign:

Financing war expenditures: It is essential that our men fighting today be equipped better than any other men in the war. A lot of money is necessary. Our job is to put the financing in operation. The cost will be more than for any war in our history, and it may be two or three times more before it ends. The more money spent today for war bonds and stamps to buy armaments, the greater chance there is of our boys coming back.

Check inflation: If you put your dollars into competitive buying you not only raise the buying price to yourself, you also raise the price the government must pay. When you start bidding against other people for the fewer things available the cost of living jumps and you pay the long price without there being sound substantial value to back it up. Every time you bid up any basic material that can be used in the war effort for the men at the front and the government has to pay more for this material the net result will "come back to roost at home in added taxes." By putting every single extra dollar in war bonds and stamps and using none of these extra dollars to buy non-essentials, prices are kept at a level which will kill inflation.

Check of taxes: The government's inventory of resources taken in the last several years has shown how much money there is in banks, insurance companies and other institutions, but a final check is being made through the war bond and stamp pledge campaign, to see what its resources are among the people of the nation, in order that every fighting dollar can be put into the war. If that amount of national resource is not enough on a voluntary basis, the government must conscript it in direct taxation. For every $3 put in bonds and stamps today, in 10 years the government will return $4. For every dollar spent in taxes a receipt is given. "Unless we enlist our fighting dollars voluntarily, you can depend on it as good common horse sense, your government is going to conscript the difference."

Financing of peace after the war: Factories and plants today are turning out implements of war and destruction. When the war is over and they start making the things that go into peace-loving homes there must be money to buy these things or there will be another depression. Money invested today in war bonds and

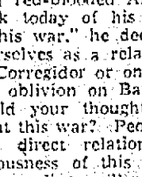
Now Is The Time To Pledge

Tomorrow Marion city will launch a three-day War Bond pledge drive to help sweep democracy to a crashing Victory over Axis madmen now insanely carving an inhuman path around the globe. Marion county's May investment in that Victory — and in the democratic future of today's children and tomorrow's—will be $131,900. In the Marion county area outside the city, the campaign is already in progress. It is all a part of a nationwide pledge drive to guarantee the government future funds to finance the nation's drive to Victory.



Marion county will not let democracy down. Marion county will not let itself down. It will be in the Victory parade when May's War Bond investment figures are revealed. Have you decided to pledge as much cash as possible toward the Victory Investment? Pledge to buy all the War Bonds and Stamps possible. Join your firm's payroll allotment plan. Buy War Bonds from postoffices, banks and savings and loan associations. Buy Stamps from retail stores and from the carrier who delivers your Marion Star. PLEDGE VICTORY!

SUGAR SIGN-UP IN FINAL DAY

S to Z Group Due Today at Schools; Extra Session Set for Friday.

Registering of the S through Z group this afternoon and tonight will formally close the four-day period of the sugar rationing registration in which a total of 24,691 Marion residents had registered through yesterday.

As a special service to residents of Marion city who found it impossible to register during the four days, city school teachers and principals have volunteered to continue as registrars at the elementary schools from 2 to 4 p. m. Friday for last-minute registrations.

The city elementary schools will be open until 5:30 this afternoon and from 7 to 9:30 tonight, the county high schools will be open until 9 tonight and the five schools in Marion township will be open until 5 this afternoon and from 6 to 9 tonight.

Register In County

No figures on county registrations were available today and there was no report from the office of Supt. D. T. Mills of any extension of registration time in the county.

Yesterday's registration of the L through R group in Marion city brought a total of 8,098 applications and 7,852 ration books issued. Eight hundred and forty-six registrants declared more than the maximum quantity of sugar permitted.

Heaviest registration was at the Pearl Street school, where 1,368 persons registered and 1,203 received books. Second heaviest was at the Oakland Heights school with 1,052 applications and 987 books issued.

Following are figures of registration in the other city schools, the first figure the number of applicants, the second the number of books issued:

Forest Lawn, 707-602; George Washington, 450-392; Glenwood, 634-585; Greenwood, 852-702; Mark, 933-839; North Main, 451-423; Oak, 814-746; Olney, 707-667; Silver, 731-706.

All Urged to Sign

Superintendent Holt, Superintendent Mills and County Rationing Coordinator John P. Probst have urged that every man, woman and child in the city and county be registered, in order that they have ration books in the event other commodities are rationed.

In response to a query yesterday regarding men in service who come home on furlough, Superintendent Holt said that the registration covers "every person living in the United States except members of the armed services. If a man in service comes home the matter of having sugar for him should be taken up with the local rationing board, he said.

Parking Meters Yield $20,000 in 20 Months

Grand total of parking meter receipts passed the $20,000 mark last week, City Auditor Elmer Shaw reported. He said the yield stands at $20,000.18.

Since the meters were installed Aug. 1940, about 20 months ago, meter receipts have averaged $1,000 a month. Mayor Russell Snare said this figure exceeded the monthly yield of $750 to $900 which was estimated at the time the meters were installed.

Parking meter receipts last week amounted to $241.65 as compared with a total of $231.45 of the previous week.

11,574 CAPTURED BY JAPS IN MANILA BAY

War Department Announces List of Units in Zone.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 7 — The war department announced today that approximately 11,574 soldiers, sailors, marines and civilians presumably were captured by the Japanese on Corregidor and the other Manila bay forts.

The estimate was based on reports received up to April 15, a communique said, and did not take into consideration casualties which might have been suffered in the last three weeks.

The total included 2,275 naval personnel, 1,570 marines, 3,734 American soldiers, 1,280 Philippine scouts, 1,446 soldiers of the Philippine commonwealth army, and 1,269 casuals, including civilians and individuals not otherwise classified.

The communique was issued at a press conference by the undersecretary of war, Robert P. Patterson, who said that Lieutenant General Jonathan M. Wainwright, commanding the American-Filipino forces, presumably was among those captured.

The communique, No. 219 of the war, said:

"The following organizations comprised the garrisons of the harbor defenses:

"Hq. U. S. forces in Philippines, 290.

"Hq. Philippine department, 28.

"Hq. and Hq. battery, harbor defenses of Manila and Subic bays, 241.

"59th coast artillery, 1,220.

"60th coast artillery, anti-aircraft, 1,704.

"803rd engineer battalion aviation, 153.

"724th ordnance company, air base, 52.

Tokyo Broadcast Describes Final Corregidor Battle

By The Associated Press

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts), May 7 — Imperial headquarters announced today that Japanese forces had completed occupation of Corregidor and other fortified islands in Manila bay by 8 a. m. today, Tokyo time (7 p. m. Wednesday, Marion time).

Japanese dispatches said Lieut. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright and his staff surrendered to the Japanese on Malinta hill, central point of the fortified island.

A Domei dispatch from "a Japanese base in the Philippines" gave this version of the last hours of Corregidor:

"Under cover of darkness and an intensive rolling artillery barrage, Japanese expeditionary forces which had been biding their time since the complete occupation of Bataan peninsula swarmed across the narrow channel separating Corregidor from the mainland at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday (7:30 a. m. Marion time) in an all out offensive to crush General Jonathan Wainwright's beleaguered Filipino-American forces.

Cincinnatian Is New Chairman of Ohio War Savings Committee

Philip J. Trounstine Takes Post Vacated When Roy D. Moore of Canton Becomes Administrator.

Philip J. Trounstine, retired Cincinnati, O., business executive, today accepted Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau's invitation to be chairman of Ohio's war savings committee.

Mr. Trounstine assumes his new duties immediately. He will maintain his office at the state headquarters in Cleveland.

Mr. Morgenthau's invitation was made at the request of Roy D. Moore, state administrator of the staff, who, since the resignation of John McSweeney several months ago, has been acting as both chairman and administrator of the Ohio committee.

Secretary Morgenthau's telegram to Trounstine asking him to serve as chairman follows:

Washington, D. C.
May 6, 1942.

Mr. Phil J. Trounstine
War Savings Staff for Ohio
693 Union Commerce Bldg.
Cleveland, Ohio.

"With the designation of Roy Moore as state administrator of war savings staff for Ohio the important post of state chairman has been vacated. Your fine service as member of Ohio state committee leads me to request that you accept the state chairmanship for Ohio. This confirms invitation informally extended by Roy Moore who shares my feeling that your great state must have strong leadership in its war savings campaign. Please let me hear from you. Best regrds."

Henry Morgenthau, Jr.
Secretary of the Treasury.

Both Mr. Trounstine and Mr. Moore, who is general manager of the Brush-Moore Newspapers, will serve as "dollar a year" men, giving Ohio the distinction of being the only state in the union where both the chairman and state administrator serve without pay.

Mr. Trounstine said Ohio's May war bond sales quota is $31,768,700, an increase of $8,652,121 over and above the average monthly amount Ohioans have invested in the past.

Active on Committee

Mr. Trounstine has lived practically all his life in Cincinnati and has been serving actively on the state committee for war bonds. He is tremendously interested, he said today, in doing all he can to maintain the voluntary basis of distributing war bonds and stamps, and expressed the hope that the people of Ohio will not regard the current "Pledge for Victory" campaign as a token affair.

SENATOR HITS TIRE SEIZURE

Johnson Charges People Being Pushed Around by Few Bureaucrats.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 7 — Indorsement by seven government officials of a proposal to requisition private automobiles moved Senator Johnson (D-Colo.) today to declare that the American people were being "pushed around to satisfy the egotism of some bureaucrats."

Johnson was one of several senators opposing a bill to authorize the government to confiscate private motorcars or parts, and to seize the auto of anyone convicted of driving faster than 40 miles an hour.

In the midst of this flare-up, the office of price administration sent out instructions to local rationing boards in 17 eastern seaboard states and the District of Columbia limiting "non-essential" motorists to from two to six gallons of gasoline a week after May 15.

The weekly allowance may be changed from time to time, depending "entirely on the supply" available, OPA said.

Henderson for Plan

Price Administrator Leon Henderson and Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson were among the seven government officials who urged the senate military committee yesterday to approve the automobile seize-and-pay bill as part of the campaign to save rubber for military uses.

Johnson told reporters he was satisfied there was sufficient legal authority now for the government to take over any equipment it

FLEET STANDS BY TO ENTER DIEGO SUAREZ

Terms of Surrender of French Forts Drafted; 1,000 Britons Killed.

By The Associated Press

France's Diego Suarez bay fortifications, the best naval base of Madagascar, have fallen to British forces which landed at dawn Tuesday, and "terms of surrender are now being drawn up" officials in London announced today.

Prime Minister Churchill told the house of commons that the British fleet was expected to enter Diego Suarez harbor about 3:30 p. m., but added that the first assault Tuesday may have cost more than 1,000 men.

It was uncertain whether the surrender in the Diego Suarez area meant the end of all resistance, but informed sources expressed belief that the bulk of the fully equipped and trained Vichy troops on Madagascar had been engaged in the defense of Diego Suarez and therefore few would be left to fight elsewhere.

The war office, the admiralty, the ministry of information, military commentators and Prime Minister Churchill contributed to details of the conquest intended to block the Japanese threat to Indian ocean supply lines.

Another Village Taken

The village of Diego; Antsirana, the chief port of north Madagascar, and the Diego Suarez naval base were won in swift succession by the operations of British sea, land and air forces within less than 48 hours after they established a beachhead.

British infantry preceded by naval bombers charged a strong French position—protected by 75-millimeter field guns and machineguns—a few miles outside of Antsirana, the chief town of the harbor area, and opened the way for its capture.

The French batteries and machine-gun nests were pulverized by British bombs and shell-fire from guns the British were able to land.

Pushing across these positions, the parties moved on to capture Antsirana in the campaign launched at dawn Tuesday.

The French commanders surrendered, but some pockets of resistance remained, said a joint war office and admiralty communique.

"The main attack was launched from the south," the communique said, "but the landing of naval marines from the north created a valuable diversion."

Ship, Submarine Lost

Apparently referring to actions already announced by the French, officials said a French submarine and sloop had been sunk in Diego Suarez harbor in the attack upon Antsirana, where the French had developed the chief naval base of Madagascar.

A Vichy communique last night said "the fierce resistance of our troops considerably slackened the enemy progress" across the neck of the 1,000-mile-long island which is a strategic key to control of the Indian ocean.

The British, by accident or design, followed the pattern of the Japanese drive upon Singapore in striking by land from the rear instead of by sea in a frontal assault upon Diego Suarez, where naval guns command the eastern approaches.

It is eight miles by air from the mangrove-bordered shore of Courrier bay east to Diego Suarez, but more than twice that distance over the rugged land across the isthmus and around Diego Suarez bay.

70 MILLION AMERICANS Live "IN-BETWEEN"

—and they're turning to buses for efficient wartime travel

"In-Between" the great metropolitan areas—in small towns, in fast-growing new industrial centers, at cross-roads communities and on farms—more than half of the people in this nation are living, working, aiding the war effort. And, as more cars are retired, they're coming to depend more and more upon buses for efficient essential travel. Greyhound, for instance, offers the only service to great numbers of these communities—and unduplicated service to still greater numbers! Greyhound carries more passengers to, from, and between these "In-Between" points, than between big cities—saving rubber fuel, and other vital materials every mile!

LIFELONG RESIDENT OF MARION CO. DIES

Mrs. Kimber Succumbs at Home in Prospect.

Mrs. Phoebe Ellen Tweddle Kimber, 78, ill of heart trouble for the last three weeks, died yesterday at 4:55 p. m. in her home at Prospect.

She was a lifelong resident of Marion county, born on March 20, 1864 to Elija and Sarah Arnold Rush, natives of the county. She was married twice, on Dec. 1, 1881 to Wilson Clyde Tweddle, who died in 1919, and on Dec. 10, 1925 to John E. Kimber, who died in 1930.

Mrs. Kimber was a member of the Prospect Baptist church.

Surviving are a son, William H. Tweddle of 179 West Center street, five grandchildren, Mrs. Ralph Stoner, Mrs. Edgar Dale Beatty, Howard E. Tweddle, Mrs. Dan Matthews and Betty Mae Tweddle, all of Marion, six great-grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. James E. Messenger of 351 West Church street, and two brothers, John E. Rush of Marion and James W. Rush of Lima.

The funeral will be conducted Saturday at 2 p. m. in the Edwin K. Smith Home for Funerals on East Center street by Rev. W. E. Budgett of the Marion Gospel Center. Burial will be made in Marion cemetery. Friends may call at the Home for Funerals.

Half of Indictments for Draft Evasion

CLEVELAND, May 7—Approximately half the federal grand jury indictments for the present term of court have been for violation of the selective service act.

Of the 69 indictments returned yesterday, 31 were for draft violators. Among those indicted for various irregularities in their relations with selective service boards were:

EXAMINER BREAKS UP DOG SALE BUSINESS

Holds Former Warden Owes County $4,323.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 7—Selling dogs to Ohio State university for scientific purposes afforded Fayette county's dog catcher, Andy C. Nelson, a extra income until State Examiner F. E. Smith stepped in.

Nelson resigned his job last Jan. 4 but the state examiner now says the catcher retained $4,323.50 for himself and that this sum must be returned to the county treasury by him or his bondsmen.

That was the amount, the examiner said, that Nelson used as extra income from his dog business during the previous ten years. In that period he gave the treasury only $1,476 from his dog sales, records showed.

Nelson insists that he gave the county all that was due it—that the extra money was obtained from the sale of dogs that he had purchased from the Greene and Pickaway county dog catchers.

But the state examiner could only find where he had purchased 66 dogs from Greene county, and asserted that available records showed most of the dogs were of Fayette county nativity.

Madagascar: An Improvement

ANNOUNCEMENT of British action on Madagascar, possibly with United States assistance, is bad news for the Axis. By that token, it is good news for the United Nations. They can use some good news.

The old method would have called for them to slap the Axis brutally on the wrists with diplomatic exchanges as soon as they began to suspect that Madagascar was about to change hands. They would not suspect anything, however, until the damage had been done.

Finally, one day when the damage had been done the old-style United Nations would have faced reality with a sickening jar. Why had it happened? Who had fallen asleep? Now that it had happened, what was going to be done about it? Meantime, how about lining someone?

Perhaps those days are gone forever. Occupation of Madagascar is a good sign, though apparently it should have been done much sooner. It means that Great Britain has started undeclared war on the Vichy crowd, and it may mean that the United States has done likewise. But in view of the fact that the Vichy crowd was going to be used to the limit of its capacity for doing dirt to the United Nations anyway, it is hard to see how anything has been lost. It is a net gain, on the other hand, whenever there is new evidence that the offensive role is not going to be left indefinitely to the Germans, the Japanese and the Italians.

Unoccupied Italy

BENITO MUSSOLINI is reported as saying over the Rome radio that he has thought up some new measures for increasing Italy's bread supply. He is further reported to have told his henchmen that food is the country's most important internal problem.

There haven't been many occasions recently to wonder about Mussolini. He is suddenly a person of no particular importance in the general scheme of things, a frustrated little fat man who overreached himself and got slapped down—hard.

He has lost not only his personal dignity, which at one time in his political career was approaching Napoleonic proportions, but has thrown away the dignity of Italy. Italian soldiers have been reduced to the humiliating status of helpers for Germans. The Italian navy is working for Germany. The Italian nation is working for Germany, and Italians know that Germans despise them as much as they traditionally have despised the Germans.

In fact, the only material difference between Italy and "unoccupied" France is that the French resisted and were captured, while the Italians were turned over to the enemy without resisting. The term "Axis" continues to be employed, but it is commonly understood to mean Germany and Japan. Italy has ceased to be considered an entity in the war; Mussolini, the dictator, has become Mussolini, the man who put all his eggs in one basket and let Adolf Hitler carry the basket.

Question To Be Answered

AMONG the many questions being raised by spokesmen in Washington, but not answered, is what happens if the government drafts certain male citizens into war factories. Sen. Johnson of Colorado has proposed that family men should be exempt from military service but subject to industrial draft to replace single workers put into uniform.

Specifically, what the prospective industrial draftees want to know is this: Are they going to work for $21 a month at jobs paying closer to $21 a day to other workers—and if so, is anyone in the government naive enough to think of the possibilities of friction without a shudder of apprehension? Furthermore, are they going to get extra and double time; will they have collective bargaining rights; will they be subject to ordinary regulations of working conditions, such as might prevail in closed union shops; will they be permitted to work at all in closed union shops?

The Washington gentlemen who talk blandly about the industrial draft must realize by this time that they are raising more questions than they are answering. If they also would take the trouble to realize that the answers must be devised before they can get to first base, they'd quit talking about an industrial draft until the obtuse angles have been figured out.

CONFUSION

Washington reportedly has the highest insanity rate in the country. Maybe this is one reason: The Aquarium is in the Commerce Building, but comes under the Interior Department, and yet, trying to reach the fish sanctuary by telephone on Thursday we were rebuffed by the Interior and Commerce switchboards, only to get our party by dialing Republic 6620—the Maritime Commission!—Washington Post.

News Behind the News

Price Ceiling Program Regarded as About Two-Thirds Effective.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 7 — The price level which Mr. Henderson has frozen was the cost of living a short unstated while.

It represents a frozen slice of Swiss cheese in which the air spots are nearly as large as the substance. Any possibility that it will hold the cost of existence to the price of March diminishes as you study the facts and figures.

Henderson was unable to touch fresh vegetables, eggs, poultry, milk, flour, mutton and lamb, fish, fruits, used automobiles, prices in hotels, restaurants, bars and amusements, or doctors or lawyers fees.

Various legal or practical obstacles stood in his way. Greatest barriers were two:

He could not deal with any except processed items of food and he could not deal even with those where the farm price was not yet near 110 per cent of parity.

Food Items

Mr. Henderson conceded, in making his announcement, that 30 to 40 per cent of the items of food were not included, and a closer analysis indicates the top figure nearer accurate. The American people spent last year for processed foods $17,470,000,000, and for non-processed foods (the vacant spots on Mr. Henderson's price ceiling) $7,720,000,000.

If you turn for flour to the vacant spots on Mr. Henderson's list done, you will reach the conclusion that on-third of the American dinner table is yet uncovered.

Services

Last year also the American people spent $21,000,000,000 for services. It is said Mr. Henderson has been able, for instance, to fix the price of some half-soling but not of shoe nails. He has fixed laundry and dry cleaning but not beauty shops.

To measure explicitly the extent of freezing on service costs to the family budget, consider it this way:

The people spent $9,000,000,000 for housing last year, but Henderson is fixing rents only in war areas; $2,500,000,000 for medical care which is unfixed; $1,700,000,000 for recreation which is unfixed, and $2,000,000,000 for laundry, tailoring and personal care, about half of which is fixed.

This means that out of $21,000,000,000 which the people may spend for services again this year, certainly a third and possibly more is not being touched by Mr. Henderson or anyone else.

Thus in both the fields of food and services, Mr. Henderson's feat covers only two-thirds of the area.

Other Holes

Add to this the fact that many items which go to make up costs of a loaf of bread or a shirt remain unfrozen, and you encounter further danger.

The cost of labor, transportation, packaging, advertising and merchandising contribute more to both the bread loaf and shirt than the ingredients in it. Yet these are free to advance, and with a shortage of labor coming on, may be subject to competitive bidding by employers.

This brings you to the largest hole in the entire ceiling—the prospect that quality and quantity can be reduced without detection or regulation. Henderson recognized this. His experts frankly gave up any effort to stop prices in restaurants, hotels and bars because they realized served portions could be cut down so easily that a price ceiling would have no effect.

But the same thing can be done with the amount of cotton or wool that goes into a shirt or a suit of clothes.

No one knows what could be done about this that would be effective, but until someone does, the prospects that the cost and standard of living can be pegged by Mr. Henderson's action must rest on remote.

Public Necessity Items

It is true Henderson has not frozen bus fares, electric lights, water and such items of public necessity but he can depend upon local public service commissions to keep these in line, and upon the interstate commerce commission to keep rail rates down. Or can he? At any rate, his program assumes that he will.

The Cause

Now all these curses and efforts have been loaded upon Mr. Henderson in this column for the purpose of simple presentation, but the responsibility is not entirely his.

Worst holes in his price ceiling alone would be closed if congress followed Mr. Roosevelt's recommendation and reduced the farm parity goal from 110 per cent fixed by the farm bloc. This, however, is impossible. Largest holes are therefore certain to remain open.

Partial Program

Thus price-fixing will remain a partial program. A beginning of a program, until the government at least gets around to doing something about wages, farm prices and service loopholes.

Most of the government economic experts realize this. They look on Mr. Roosevelt's plan simply as some groundwork laid for future action, a frame which can be built upon later—presumably after the November congressional elections, when the government may not feel so squeamish about the political aspects of an effective program in the union labs and farm districts.

Aneta's Voice Is Still

Dutch News Agency, Born in One War, Dies in Another.

By TRUDI McCULLOUGH

NEW YORK, May 7—(Wide World)—In a tropical capital a general surrendered his sword, and one of the voices of a strapping, suddenly cosmopolitan news agency, which had been born in one war, was stilled in another.

"Once upon a day we didn't get any more reports."

Even now the New York and London offices of Aneta, Dutch news agency, are waiting for the first word from any member of the staff which, for 60 days before the fall of Java held the spotlight of news reporting.

They are the staff which broke the news at the beginning of the battle of Macassar Straits, the sinking of the four Japanese transports by Dutch submarines the day after Pearl Harbor, the first raids on Soerabaja, the eye-witness accounts of the battle of Tarakan, the "scorched earth" at Balik-Papan.

They are the staff that smashed Aneta's powerful Batavia radio receiving set with a hammer and bashed the teletype machines when they knew that in another day they would be put to use for the Japanese.

Jan Bouwer An Example

They are typified by one of their men whose name in the 60 days became well known to newspaper readers wherever there was an allied press, Jan Bouwer.

Each morning at 7:30 in New York a wide awake voice in the Aneta offices here said "hello" to Bouwer's weary greeting from Java. There it was 5 p. m., the end of a weary war day.

It was always Bouwer calling. New York knew his voice. He knew the voices on this end. Without ever having seen their owners, he would say in recognition, "Hello, Dan," or "Hello, Jacob," and begin reading his stories.

There was a reason for Bouwer's always being the one to call. His diction was precise, his voice even toned. Those things are important in a 10,000 mile phone call that traveled two-thirds of the way by wireless.

Bouwer made two scheduled calls each day. When he had something particularly good, he was apt to preface it and assuage his excitement by a brief, "here's the story!" It was all the communicable excitement he could allow himself at a phone rate of $20 per three minutes.

The day the battle of Macassar Straits began, Bouwer put in one of his flash calls. "Here's a story!" New York heard that, then heard "Dutch planes . . bombing . . Jap ships sunk . . ."

Then he went on his precise diction—careful not to leave silences that might be taken for voice fading—and told the story of the beginning three-day battle.

Sometimes when he called from Bandoeng, the temporary capital in the interior, bombers were roaring overhead and the sound of ack-ack guns could be distinguished in New York.

Toward the end, when Aneta's staff grew smaller from the absence of reporters who had not returned from Celebes or Sumatra, tall, sallow Jan Bouwer made more and more frequent trips to the fighting front between his phone calls.

The New York office well remembers the occasion when, after six weeks of it, Bouwer asked if he could make his call that night two hours late so that he and his wife might go to their first movie in six weeks.

Then on Friday, March 6 Bouwer made only one call. On March 7, the day Java fell, there was one wireless message, and that's all anyone knows about Jan Bouwer.

There Were Others

But Bouwer was only one figure operating in a large agency in wartime.

Gerardus A. Van Bevene, head of the NEI agency, made careful preparations in Batavia against the fight when it came.

In Bandoeng in the interior, which would become the temporary capital if Batavia had to be forsaken, he hired an office building. He installed a duplicate of all things in the Batavia office, a powerful receiving set, teletype machines, typewriters, arranged for telephone communications.

Then he sent half his staff to the new office while the other half continued to function in the old one. At noon one day, a fortnight before the end — work stopped in Batavia. At one minute past noon Aneta was operating from Bandoeng.

There for the next two weeks the staff provided war coverage until once again they had to smash their equipment against the arrival of the advancing Japanese.

Daily Bible Thought

We know little of the material universe, we should not assume that we know all about spiritual things: "Where wast thou when I laid the foundations of the earth? Declare if thou hast understanding."—Job 38:4.

LATEST SUBMARINE CAMPAIGN

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, May 7, 1932.

Barking of a pet dog was credited for the rescue of Mrs. Lester Mellering of north of Marion when she fell through the top of a cistern at her farm home. The dog's barking attracted the attention of her husband who helped her from the cistern.

Two sets of twins were announced among the members of the Harding High school graduating class. They were Bethel and Ethel Hurst, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hurst of North Grand avenue, and Allan and Charles Justice, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Justice of Mentmore avenue.

Mrs. Anna Elizabeth Datt, 74, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. M. F. Douce of Vine street.

Fire struck three times at the home of J. L. Sparks, five miles north of Green Camp, in a period of 12 hours, reducing it to ashes. Neighbors fought the flames after the Green Camp fire department became stuck in the mud on the road leading to the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hollandsboe entertained the Criterion club at their home on East Center street.

John E. Gracely of East Church street entertained a group of friends at a birthday party.

A 17-year old Tiffin boy suspected of being a runaway had an explanation for his presence in Marion when police took him to the county juvenile detention home. He said he was "just playing around" in a freight car near his home when suddenly the train started and "the first thing I knew I found myself in Marion."

An Easterite jokester sent in a false fire alarm that cost the city approximately $500. While on the run the number from Central station had a breakdown resulting from a broken crank shaft.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, May 7, 1922.

John H. Patterson, retired head of the National Cash Register Co., died aboard a train enroute from Dayton, O., to Atlantic City.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Asa Evans of Thompson street and a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Don Russell of East George street.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Irey of South Vine street entertained with a dinner in honor of the seventieth birthday anniversary of Mrs. Irey's father, C. E. Kelly of Caledonia.

Rev. D. L. Caldwell of Upper Sandusky, presiding elder of the Columbus district of the Evangelical church, conducted communion services at Greenwood Evangelical church and gave a sermon "Present Yourself a Living Sacrifice."

The Marion Daily Stars opened their baseball season at Lincoln park with a victory over the Page Dairy team of Toledo by a score of 6 to 0. Mayor George W. Neely pitched the first ball before a crowd of 1,000 spectators. Jackman and Anderson made up the battery for Marion, Jackman holding Toledo to two hits and striking out 11.

Laval Expected To Try To Turn All France Against Allies as Result of Madagascar.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE question is whether the operation in Madagascar can be used by Laval to make France fight for Hitler. We know that he will use it if he can, since he is a doomed man when Hitler fails.

His best chance would come, we may reasonably suppose, if there were prolonged resistance in Madagascar which he could make look like a French Tobruk, a French Malta, a French Corregidor. For we must realize that among the French, a people with a great military tradition, there exists the desire to prove to themselves and to the world that they are still a fighting people. All that is best in the French nation is undoubtedly waiting for the day when they can prove their courage and their prowess against the ancient enemy. But it is also true, as the Syrian campaign last year showed, that among the professional soldiers of France there are some at least who will fight the British or us to vindicate the reputation of the French army.

This sentiment among French officers is one of the real elements of the French problem. For, of course, it has been the policy of the collaborationists to put in the posts of command—in Syria, in North Africa, at Dakar, in Madagascar, and in the ships of the fleet—officers who, besides being reactionaries in politics, are professional militarists interested in advancing themselves by fighting on what they believed, when they committed themselves, was the winning side.

The Rank and File

Obviously the rank and file have no such interest; for them there can be no glory and no profit in fighting to help Hitler stay in France where he loots and starves and oppresses their families. That is why very few real Frenchmen are used in these operations. The fighting is done in the main by colonials, Senegalese for example and by soldiers of fortune, and by professionals. That surely is a very important reason why Hitler and his French agents have not yet solved the problem of how to take over the French navy. The fleet has to be manned by Frenchmen. It cannot be operated by Senegalese under French officers.

It must be counted as a possibility, however, if the resistance in Madagascar were prolonged and spectacular, that then Laval might be able to kindle some feeling in the hearts of many Frenchmen whose pride is deeply wounded by the disaster of 1940, who would grasp at anything, however, suicidal for France, which could be made to look heroic and glorious. The defeatists in the French bourgeoisie, particularly the industrialists who do the actual daily collaborating with the Nazis, would be susceptible to almost anything which made them feel less dreary and ignoble.

But though a dramatic reverse to the Allies in Madagascar would probably enable Laval to do a lot more to help Hitler, there are no reasons for thinking that even then he could incite the French nation to war against us. The fiasco at Dakar in 1940 and the Syrian campaign have shown that incidents abroad do not turn the French nation from their vital interest, which is to expel the Nazis from France itself. That French interest is so much stronger than any other sentiment or prejudice in the hearts of Frenchmen that nothing which Marshal Petain and Admiral Darlan could say, nothing surely which Laval can say or do, can alter it. Professional soldiers and bureaucrats can be ordered about from Vichy. But the French nation cannot be made to fight for the conquerer against the liberator.

Need Thorough Preparation

That being the unalterable and controlling fact in the French situation, we may be quite sure that the more strongly we are able to act, the greater will be the French resistance to Laval and to Hitler. We do not have to prove to the French that our victory is the salvation of France. They know that. What we have to

Over-Age Manpower Marched Up and Signed Names, Sometimes with a Little Help.

By DAMON RUNYON

THE United States now has the majority of the cardiac, diabetic, arthritic, astigmatic, ulcer and general debility cases of the nation on its military rolls.

And, of course, 90 per cent of the Pixie Men of America in both the upper and lower departure divisions, all straining their synthetic muspids in eagerness to get at the enemy, are included.

Registration of the 45 to 65 crowd went very well last week, if I may judge by the results in Los Angeles. If there are enough wheel chairs to go around every nurse in the top brackets of the enrollment for war is already as good as won. I heard two veterans of the Spanish-American war constitute several divisions of Japanese just while waiting to register.

I saw several elderly persons who were accompanied by their wives to the registration station at Beverly Hills city hall, and one of the wives explained that it was not safe to let Paw wander around on his own or he might get lost. She said his sense of location has been poor ever since Billy Bryan's last campaign for the presidency.

If you are interested in a report on how the old columnist made out in the registration, I can tell you it was a simple squeak. I waited four blocks to the Beverly Hills city hall in this untoward exercise left me without enough strength to lift the pen to sign up. So the good offices of the lady clerk, who held the pen while I puffed it around to form the necessary signature, got me on Uncle Sam's list again.

THIS revelation of a lack of physical stamina scarcely compatible with enrollment for possible military service might have depressed me had I not encountered a younger fellow sitting on the city hall steps having a nice little heart attack for himself. He confided his fear that he would be up to carrying a rifle with the same aplomb that characterized him in the Argonne, for some time.

I thought it was a mistake to put the registration place in a spot where the registrants had to walk up stairs. Some of them that I saw have enough difficulty shoving their stomachs along the flat and when they had to push them uphill, it became quite a hardship. I hope and trust that the government will bear this in mind if it is going to call for any further maneuvers from us old guys.

As I understand the purpose of the registration, the government seeks accurate information as to its manpower. Most of the registrants above the three-score mark felt highly flattered that the word power should be applied to them in any sense. However, as about the only job in which the government is using three-score-ers are as generals in the army or in the cabinet and all these places are already filled, I fear the high-age men among the new registrants are going to be on the waiting list a long time.

THIS also applies to those in the lower notches of the 18-64 registration. If the government displays no more celerity in taking advantage of their services per draft than it has on their voluntary offers, Thousands of good men of middle age have been trying for months to serve their country in capacities for which they are well qualified only to be ignored while young sters are being used in the executive positions.

If the new registration is to enable the government to identify and classify men of from 45 to 64 that it will really use according to their capabilities, well and good. Many men 40 to 45 are still physically fit for combat service if necessary, especially if they have had previous war experience. Many up to 64 would probably competently discharge duties now assigned to kids who would probably prefer being with the fighting divisions.

But I think the registration in connotation of war of most of those around 64 slightly ludicrous as against their physical condition and the fact that this nation has such an enormous reservoir of youth to draw on. You know very well it is unlikely those old geezers will ever be called on for any purpose. Still, if the nation needs them, there they stand—or at least they lean.

Gun Metal Still Victoria Cross

By The Associated Press

LONDON—Victoria Crosses will no longer be made from guns captured at Sevastopol during the Crimean war but they will still remain the highest award a British soldier may win for outstanding bravery.

When Queen Victoria instituted the decoration 86 years ago she decreed it should be made from cannons captured by British forces at Sevastopol. The order was strictly followed but now that supply of metal has become exhausted.

"In future the Maltese crosses will be made from gun metal supplied by the Mint," said the director of the jewelry concern which has been making the decorations since days when first one awarded Midshipman Charles David Lucas for throwing a live shell from the deck of his ship into the Baltic sea in 1854.

Locked in the strong room of the jeweler who makes the crosses is a ledger recording names and deeds of the nearly 1,180 winners of the award.

Long Memory but Short Term

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—Magistrate Ambrose Haddock doesn't forget a face.

When a prisoner appeared before him on a voluntary charge of vagrancy, Magistrate Haddock studied his face and turned his mind back to childhood days.

"I sentence you to 30 days, 'Jigger' and you're lucky I don't give you an additional sentence for stealing my shoes 34 years ago," he said. "Jigger" blushed at the mention of his old nickname but denied it was he who had taken the judge's shoes when he was swimming in the river.

National Forest Marks 50th Birthday

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES—Angeles National Forest, known as Los Angeles' backyard, celebrates its golden anniversary this year. Created by proclamation in 1892, it was the first watershed protection forest established in America and its rangers the first to wear uniforms in this country.

Placerita Canyon, where gold was first discovered in California, is within the boundaries of Angeles National Forest. The Placerita discovery was made on March 9, 1842, six years before the sensational Sutter discovery in the northern part of the state.

8,513 Register for Sugar Rationing in Wyandot Co.

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, May 7—Total registration in Wyandot county in the first two days of consumer registration for sugar ration was 8,513. Books were issued to 7,744, while 769 applications were withheld because of sugar on hand.

Thursday was expected to be the largest single day, according to county coordinator Russell C. Price.

A new combined office is being set up on the first floor of the courthouse for the Upper Sandusky ration board and the county coordinator.

Wagner-Houk Wedding Takes Place in Carey

CAREY—The marriage of Miss Jeannette Wagner of Toledo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Wagner of Carey and Robert D. Houk of Tiffin, took place Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock in Christ Lutheran church here. Rev. M. P. Paetznick officiated. The bride is a graduate of Carey High school and of Tiffin university, and Mr. Houk is a graduate of Tiffin High school and of Heidelberg college. They will live in Tiffin where Mr. Houk is employed at the Art Metal Co.

Banns of marriage were announced for the first time Sunday at the Our Lady of Consolation Shrine church for Miss Mary Louise Vaughn, of near Carey and Howard Fleece of Carey.

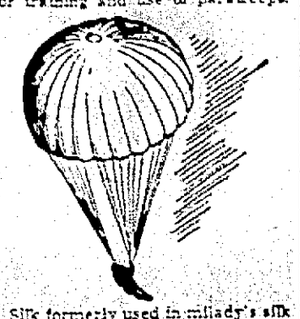
A recognition service was held Sunday at Christ Lutheran church, in honor of the week-day Bible school which closed recently. The first six grades and the Junior choir had charge of the program. Rev. M. P. Paetznick spoke on "Children of the Church."

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

A dozen patriotic Americans, each buying one $18.75 U. S. War Bond will provide $225 for the cost of one parachute. We need one for every man in every plane, thousands of them. And we need other thousands for training and use of paratroops.



Silk formerly used in miladi's silk hose and other finery now goes into parachutes and for every parachute manufactured, 20 women will have to forego the purchase of a silk dress each. But they save money to buy War Bonds every pay day.

PLANS were completed for a 1:30 p.m. tea Sunday afternoon at Rugerly Inn, and the annual installation of officers and initiation of pledges on May 20 at Hotel Harding at a meeting of Alpha chapter, Gradale sorority, last evening at the home of Miss Walter Corrigan of Forest street.

Hostesses for the Mother's day tea to be held from 2 to 5 o'clock are Mrs. Gerrie Smith, Mrs. William Chilcote, Mrs. Fred Rizer, Mrs. Donald Quackenbush, Mrs. Robert Kelley and Mrs. Ira Bronson. Miss Kathryn Watson is in charge of arrangements.

The installation and initiation ceremonies will be followed by a formal dinner. Pledges are Mrs. Albert Thomas, Mrs. James Grubbs, Mrs. William Oldaker, Miss Garnet Gilbert, Miss Margretta Lieberenz, Miss Mildred Thomas, Miss Ruth McMahon, Miss Beulah Benton, Miss Winifred Ballender, Miss Erma Kraus and Miss Dorothy Castner. Plans are in charge of the following committees: program, Mrs. Donald Quackenbush and Mrs. Lowell Williams; decorations and reservations, Mrs. Carroll Elsey, Mrs. Richard Langdon and Miss Glendoris Hilborn; menu, Mrs. Don Westman and Miss Charm Webster.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK S. BURNS of 608 East Church street announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Margaret Jean, to Donald R. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Williams of Morral. The ceremony will be read Sunday morning at 10 at North Main Methodist church in Kenton by the bride's uncle, Dr. James H. Rivard. The wedding will be performed preceding the morning worship service.

THE first meeting of Ohio Delta Beta chapter, Beta Sigma Phi sorority, was held last evening at the home of Miss Shirley Pierce of 208 Franklin street. Plans were discussed for the year's activities. Miss Peggy Knapp, president, was in charge of the meeting and Mrs. John Anspaugh, president of Ohio Eta chapter, was a guest. The next meeting, May 20, will be with Miss Knapp.

Plans were made for 1 o'clock pot luck luncheon at the next meeting, May 26, by members of the Elks Women's club yesterday afternoon. Each member will invite a guest for the luncheon. Mrs. Cecil Cornell was hostess and in cards the awards were won by Mrs. Russell Wilhelm, contract, and Mrs. F. H. Moore, euchre.

Mrs. Clarence Rizer of 901 Bennett street entertained a group of children Tuesday afternoon in celebration of the second birthday anniversary of her daughter, Darlyne. Games and contests were played. Favors were balloons and animal cutouts filled with mints. The playroom was decorated with spring flowers and the table, arranged for a lunch, was centered with a large cake lighted with two candles. Present with the celebrant were Judy Mitton, Donna Lou Zink, Billy Jenner, Carol Belt and Jimmy Thomas. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. John Jenner.

Mrs. Ruby Graham of East Walnut street was hostess for a meeting of the Fun For All club Tuesday evening. Mrs. Corinne Denzer and Miss Katherine Bass were associate hostesses. Awards for high scores in pinochle were won by Mrs. Nina Rice and Mrs. Betty Brackney. Miss Irene Ring was consolation. Mrs. Ethel Fellabaum was a guest.

Four mothers of sons in service, Mrs. S. G. Rosenberg, Mrs. Max Birnbaum, Mrs. Albert Loeb and Mrs. B. E. Kleinmaier, were honored when the Bucyrus members of the Marion Council of Jewish Women entertained with a 1 o'clock luncheon Monday in Bucyrus. War stamp books with stamps were favors. Garden flowers and [illegible] decorated the table.

A tribute to the four mothers was read by Mrs. M. M. Weinman. In a business session the president, Mrs. Rosenberg, appointed Mrs. Loeb as the council's delegate this year.

Guests were Mrs. Fred Stern of Mansfield, Mrs. Stella Rosen of Marion, Mrs. Ida Boyd and Mrs. Jennie Goldman of Marion.

Mrs. Harold Morris of 748 Congress street was given a surprise birthday anniversary party Tuesday evening by a group of friends and relatives. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Morris and son Harold Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ora Heron, Mr. and Mrs. Foster McKibben, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Beach, Miss Vera belle Heron, Ronald Beach and Benny McKibben.

Theft of Tools Brings 5 to 20 Years in Pen

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, May 7—An escaped Ohio convict and three pawnbrokers received sentences in recorder's court yesterday in connection with the theft of precision instruments which upset a factory's defense production last August.

Leo J. Means, 42, identified by police as an escaped convict from the London, O., state prison farm and a former die maker, was sentenced to five to 20 years for a $1,000 robbery at the Majestic Tool Co. in which vital defense tools were taken. He pleaded guilty.

The pawnbrokers, Hyman Gottlieb, 38, Louis Arnoff, 32, and Leo Reichburger, pleaded guilty to conspiracy to receive stolen property and were placed on probation for one year.

Miss Fetter And Lieut. Eggleston Wed at Air Field

MRS. DONALD E. EGGLESTON

RANDOLPH FIELD chapel at San Antonio, Texas, was the setting for the wedding of Miss Maxine Fetter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fetter of 182 Bain avenue, and Lieut. Donald E. Eggleston of Dallas, Texas, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Eggleston of 176 Bain avenue, Saturday, May 2. The ceremony was read at 2 o'clock in the afternoon by Chaplain Rinard of Randolph field.

The bride, given in marriage by Chester B. Kilpatrick of San Antonio, was costumed in a dusty rose wool ensemble trimmed with blonde fox fur, with a matching hat and veil. Her accessories of beige matched the fur trim of her costume and she carried a white prayer book to which was pinned a white orchid. Miss Dee Dee Kilpatrick was her maid of honor and Miss Kathy Jones was junior bridesmaid. Both are of San Antonio. Lieut. Joseph Chandler Ford III served as best man for Lieutenant Eggleston.

Mrs. Chester B. Kilpatrick sang "Because" and the organ music included "Indian Love Call," "I Love You Truly," and "Ave Maria." The chapel altar was decorated with white gladioli and lighted with tall white tapers in candelabra.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Chester B. Kilpatrick of 206 Morningside drive, San Antonio, entertained with a reception and the bride and Lieutenant Eggleston cut their wedding cake with a U. S. army saber.

The bride attended Harding High school and is a member of Beta chapter of the Gradale sorority. Until recently she was associated with the accounting department of the Marion-Reserve Power Co.

Lieutenant Eggleston attended Ohio State university and received his private pilot's license at Central State college, Edmond, Okla. He won his wings at Randolph and Kelly Fields and received his commission Oct. 31 last year. He is now assistant air corps representative and army test pilot for the North American Aviation Co. of Dallas. The couple will live at 2100 Irving boulevard, Irving, Dallas, Texas.

Girl Took First Chute Jump Because She Couldn't Fail Before Fair Crowd

— Adds the lower wing and jump.'

Her step off the wing that ... September ache now 13 years ag... plunged her into a lake unhurt. It also plunged her into an adventurous career which has sent her over side 408 times—a record she believes, for women parachutists.

Has Two Sidelines

Through her a circus jumping one has developed two sidelines—one turning into a substantial business. Because her life depends on her parachute's care, she learned the exacting trade of packing and maintaining them, becoming the first woman to be granted a government license to pack them.

Her other sideline is teaching parachute jumping.

She always goes up with her students on their first three jumps for a calm, last word.

"While we are flying I try to take the students mind off the jump," she says, "by talking steadily about other things.

At an altitude of 2,500 feet she has the pilot head into the wind, throttle the ship back nearly to a stalling speed and as the student goes overboard she cautions:

Don't open the chute too quick.

She minimizes the danger, but her parachuting experience hasn't been altogether uneventful. Several times she has been injured slightly.

Once she attempted the now-outlawed bat wing jump against her better judgment at Butte, Mont.

The bat stunt is a sort of delayed jump with the parachutist gliding down with a pair of short wings nearly to earth before opening the umbrella. The wings had a tendency to foul the chute.

"We went up 10,000 feet and I ... out. As soon as I hit the ... I began to spin," she related. She was afraid to pull the rip cord, fearing the shroud lines would tangle around her and prevent its opening.

She Was Really Scared

"I was frightened more than I ever had been in my life," she declares, "and I have been in some tight spots."

Dizzy, she pulled the rip cord and hoped for the best. The shroud lines wrapped around her but enough of the chute opened to check her descent. Just before she landed it blossomed into full size and safety.

The shock of an opening chute, even in a delayed jump where you fall several thousand feet before pulling the cord, isn't severe. The landing she describes as "about like jumping from a 12-foot ladder." The falling through the air in a delayed jump is simply a "pleasant experience" to her.

Parachutes in use must be inspected every 60 days. They are hung in a drying tower where wrinkles are removed. Dampness causes a chute to open more slowly and wrinkles lead to tears.

"A high grade white silk parachute," she estimates, "is good for 10 to 12 years if properly maintained. The army discards its chutes after six years and the navy after five. Exhibition jumpers can get about 20 leaps with safety from the same chute."

Modern design and rigging of parachutes makes them safer, she thinks, than most pilots believe.

"There isn't more than one chance in 10,000," she declares, "that a chute will not open if the rip cord is pulled properly."

Marion and Bucyrus Paper Carriers Win Recognition in Washington

The Marion Star newspaper carrier boys helped put the Buckeye state in first place in the nation for war savings stamp sales in the week ended April 17 a recent edition of the U S Defense Agents News, published in Washington D C shows.

The paper carried a four-column photograph of The Star's newspaper boy taken at a meeting in which awards were presented those who had made outstanding sales records. Also shown in the photograph were representatives of The Star's business office, Elmer J Schoenfeld, Marion county War Savings Staff chairman, and C F Silbert naval recruiting officer both of whom helped in the presentation of awards.

Also published in the paper was a photograph of newspaper boys of the Bucyrus Telegraph Forum at a meeting where awards were presented.

The U S Defense Agent News credits The Star's newspaper boys with sales of 324,772 stamps up to April 18, including 126 bond stamps in the week ended April 18.

Other newspapers in the Marion area reported coupon sales were listed as follows: Delaware Gazette, 46,645 stamps up to April 18; Marysville Tribune, 1,660 stamps up to April 18; Bucyrus Telegraph-Forum 25,756 stamps up to April 18.

Ohio's total sales by newspaper boys were clipped at 33,619,040 stamps despite the fact the program had been started in a number of states before it was organized in Ohio.

U. S. Owns 6,599 Acres of Union County Land

Farms Bought To Resettle Families from Defense Areas

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, May 7—The United States own about one-forty-second part of all of the territory in Union county as the result of purchases of farms for use by farmers dispossessed in defense areas.

Purchases of farms started last summer and all that were held on option now have been bought, according to a report of government representatives to County Recorder Lawrence B Rhoades. The government now owns 6593.72 acres of the total 275,000 acres in the county. The total cost of the land was $380,090.

It was reported last summer that defense families would move into this area starting the first of this year. This has not taken place and most of the land has been rented to farmers in this area for cultivation this year. The war, it was reported, prevented a building program on the farms intended to split up the tracts into farms of about 100 acres.

War Bond Talk Is Heard by Grangers

O G McClone talked on the importance of the war bond and stamp canvass and urged courteous treatment of workers, when he spoke at a meeting of Grand Prairie grange Tuesday night.

James Kerr was elected steward, succeeding John Dean who resigned when he enlisted in the army air corps and was sent to Patterson Field near Dayton. A Mother's day program opened with group singing. Mrs James Kerr read a paper on the origin of Mother's day. Mary Alice Linn read a poem on mothers and Mrs Tollie Rinehart and Jack Lill gave a dialogue. After a contest there was a recreation hour of floor drills and games.

LIPPMANN

prove to them is that we mean to win the victory and that we can. Vichy officials may be hypocritically indignant about an operation like Madagascar. The only thing the French nation would seriously object to would be an operation which was not successful enough to prove that the Allies have become much stronger.

Therefore, the rule which must guide us in all our operations as they affect the French is to start nothing which we cannot surely finish neatly and thoroughly. Too soon and too little is almost as bad in war, and especially in the peculiar state of the French empire in this year, as too late and too little. For we must bear in mind that the French are a defeated nation, who, while they intend eventually to re-enter the war do not wish to be defeated a second time by Hitler. They will not fight him openly until they see a good prospect of winning. And, therefore whether we appear in France itself or in any part of the French empire, we must come in sufficient force to act decisively at that point.

EDUCATOR CITES JOB OF COLLEGES IN WAR

Says Schools Must Supply Brains for Better Army.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O, May 7—The job of colleges is to supply the brains to produce victory for the United States fighting forces, a Chicago educator told delegates to the Association of Public Relations Officers here today.

Colleges must judge the services by the caliber of men and women America is operating today—do they contribute to winning the war, Howard Henry, president of the Illinois Institute of Technology, an engineering school, addressed.

The war will only be won when billions of dollars have been translated into trained fighting men equipped with superior machines able to meet and fight the enemy on more than equal terms.

It is the job of the colleges to help supply the brains to produce and equip such an army, Henry said. When victory has been won, then we can talk about peace. Now every resource of our colleges must be used to win the war.

College publicity officers were urged to publicize the current need for trained men and opportunities offered by the government for instruction in special defense classes.

Curves Put To New Use—Now They Control Noise, Sound

By HOWARD W BLAKESLEE

But the same focus reflection does something [illegible] for broadcasting studios It more readily prevents the [illegible] of high notes, and the distorted amplification of near-high [illegible] In the WPAA studio the high tones remain strong up to 17,000 cycles, which is higher than many ears can hear

This studio is the first completely equipped [illegible] the curve principles Other broadcasting studios are using similar alterations.

Much more [illegible] in prospect Dr Boner says this the curves control applies to most auditoriums He thinks that halls of 5,000 to 8,000 seating capacity will be able to do away largely with amplifying systems for public speaking

For sound-proofing interiors where racket is costly in fatigue and confusion, he proposes to use both the present absorbing materials and the curve controls

This may not be worked out soon Twenty-five of Dr Boner's assistants already have been called into military research Elsewhere in the nation sound experts are likewise going into the services

Arrangements Completed For Marion's Pre-School Clinics

Sessions To Be Held at 12 Buildings Next Week; Doctors, Dentists and Helpers Donate Time.

Children who will be of school age next fall will have their chance to undergo complete physical examinations at the annual pre-school clinics to take place next week at all elementary school buildings in the city. Doctors, dentists, nurses and members of the P-T A. health committee will be on hand to examine children.

Dr. M. M. Weinbaum, city health commissioner, said the purpose of the clinics is to find defects in children who soon will be entering school. He said parents' attention is called to the defects so that they can be treated and corrected, if possible, before the youngsters start to school.

Dr. Weinbaum emphasized that no charge will be made for examinations. All services by doctors, dentists and nurses are being furnished free. He said the only obligation on the parent is to see to it that their child has the chance to undergo an examination.

Because of the change in the opening time of schools, a new time has been set this year for the examinations to begin. This year examinations will start at 9 a. m. The clinics will be held only mornings. Parents are asked to take their children early.

Parents of all children planning to enter school next fall have been requested to take their youngsters to the closest school building on the day the clinic is to take place there.

Sponsors of the clinic are the Parent-Teacher association, the Marion Academy of Medicine, the Marion County Dental society and the city health department. In charge of arrangements are Mrs. Waldo May, chairman of the city P-T A. council health committee; Miss Kathleen M. Thomas, city health nurse, and Mrs. Urton Anderson. These women will also give assistance at the clinics.

Schedule for the clinics and the physicians and dentists who will officiate are as follows:

MONDAY

Forest Lawn — Drs. Floyd Yeager, F. W. Rea, D. W. Brickley Jr. and M. C. Smally.

Pearl Street—Drs. J. W. Bull, F. L. Thomas, R. T. Morgan and A. F. Linscott.

St. Mary—Drs. J. A. McNamara, Robert Gray, A. A. Starner and A. J. Wagner.

TUESDAY

Glenwood—Drs. Richard Morgan, J. M. Miller, J. T. Boswell, Maude Bull and O. M. Young.

Olney Avenue—Drs. F. W. Rea, R. I. Getman, H. S. Rhu and A. J. Wagner.

WEDNESDAY

George Washington—Drs. H. K. Mouser, E. L. Brady and B. L. Wallace.

Greenwood—Drs. William A. Pennington, E. H. Morgan, D. W. Brickley Jr. and O. G. Stephenson.

North Main Street—Drs. Margaret Pennington, M. M. Weinbaum and F. R. Mann.

THURSDAY

Mark Street—Drs. R. L. Gettma, J. A. McNamara, B. D. Osborn and C. B. Emery.

Silver Street—Drs. L. L. Roebuck, R. G. McMurray, M. M. Weinbaum and E. W. Imbody.

FRIDAY

Oak Street—Drs. J. G. McNamara, Richard Morgan and O. M. Young.

Oakland Heights—Drs. J. M. Miller, R. G. McMurray, C. G. Smith, M. M. Weinbaum and V. C. Kissell.

Dinner at Mt. Victory Observes Anniversaries

Special to The Star

MT. VICTORY—A dinner was given Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl James, for Pearl and Earl James, twin brothers, and Mrs. Marguerite Hatcher on their birthday anniversaries. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Pearl James, Mr. and Mrs. Francel James, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Olen Hatcher and daughter of Lima, Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Hatcher of near Kenton, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carpenter and son of West Mansfield, Mrs. Gertrude Eddy, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Schertzer and Mr. and Mrs. Earl James and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tobey have received word of the promotion of Lowell Shuster to the rank of second class seaman. He is being trained as a gunner's mate.

Refreshments were served to approximately 25 guests Saturday when Mr. and Mrs. George Kavanagh, who were recently married, were given a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kavanagh.

Russia based its original claim to ownership of Alaska on explorations by Bering and Chirikof from 1728 to 1742.

Solidly the Boston housewife makes the beans for the traditional Saturday night supper, often all night Friday night and all day Saturday. It is thus that we prepare each tiny globule to melting tenderness, cramming it with the luscious flavor that has made an American Food Tradition.

Wiedemann's Fine Beer is aged slowly and tended most carefully to bring it to the peak of flavor perfection. It is brewed of the choicest ingredients by the most improved scientific processes. MOTHERS HONORED AT CHURCH GUILD PARTY

Annual Mother-Daughter Event Marks "Family Week"

The Women's Guild of the First Evangelical and Reformed church entertained members and friends at the annual mother-daughter banquet following the regular meeting of the guild in the church parlors. A program was presented during the dinner hour. Tables were decorated for the occasion and the mothers of the guests were honored with a program of the week observed as "Family Week." Seating the guests were in charge of Mrs. Gertrude Hoffman, assisted by Miss Dora Jacobs and Miss Miriam Washburn. Miss Jacobs presented the guests with bouquets of spring flowers upon their arrival and for the opening of the program Miss Jacobs extended a welcome and offered prayer. Rev. E. H. Wierth, pastor, gave a talk on the upper room and the executives of the National Women's guild. Mrs. Wierth extended greetings to the mothers after which the following program was presented: violin solo, "Song My Mother Taught Me," by Miss Marilyn Sanderson accompanied at the piano by Miss Mary Queen; group singing, "Mother's Love"; prayers, "To My Mother," by Miss Mary Knickle, and "By a Mother," by Mrs. William Wagner; song, "Queen of My Heart is Mother," by Mrs. Robert Cleveland, accompanied by Mrs. John Cleveland; song, "Mother," by the junior chorus directed by Miss Helen Felcalin with Mrs. Fred Sinning at the piano, playing "The Most Precious Gift" by the following guild members: Misses Twila Retterer, Mary Knickle, Elizabeth Haberman, Marilyn Sanderson, Doris Heiser, June Rider, Florence Haumen, Joan Uncapher and Carolyn Myers, song, "I Love Thee," by Miss Mary Queen, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Sinning; song, "God Was There," by Mrs. Robert Cleveland and Miss Irene Klingler, accompanied by Mrs. John Cleveland; group singing, "Faith of Our Mothers."

Miss Hoffman spoke on mothers, and mothers through history of our country.

Recognition was given the oldest mother present who was Mrs. Mary Neldnart, the youngest mother Mrs. Robert Maag, and three generations of mothers, Mrs. Ella Abbott, Mrs. E. H. Houser and Mrs. J. C. Scheiffer Jr.

Miss Dora Jacobs and Mrs. Ross Sanderson presided at the table assisted by Mrs. E. H. Wierth. The table held a centerpiece of tulips and other spring flowers and completing the decorations were streamers in yellow and green and lighted yellow and green candles. Appointments were in keeping with the color note. For the play the stage was decorated by the Girls' guild under the direction of Miss Mary Knickle, president of the group, and Miss Carolyn Myers. A white picket fence was banked with foliage, tulips, flags and lilies of the valley. The affair was sponsored by what was formerly the Young Women's Missionary society now merged with the guild.

The following chairmen were: Mrs. Valetta Ward, kitchen; Mrs. John Matthews, lunch; Mrs. J. C. Scheiffer Jr., table decorations, Mrs. E. H. Wierth, program; Miss Marion Washburn, corsages.

MAY QUEEN ATTENDANT

MT. GILEAD, May 7 — Miss Dorothy Bishop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Bishop of Johnsville, has been elected freshman attendant to the May Queen at Bowling Green university. May day ceremonies are scheduled for May 21. Miss Bishop is a freshman in the college of education. Her father is superintendent of the Johnsville schools where she graduated in 1941.

Mt. Victory To Vote On Special School Levy

Special to The Star

KENTON, O., May 7—The Mt. Victory board of education today called for a special election June 2nd on a special 1½-mill levy to continue operation of schools there. County Schools Superintendent F. C. Ransdell said that by the time this term ends, the Mt. Victory schools will owe teachers nearly two months in back salaries, and that use of a state distribution expected in June would leave the district without a surplus with which to start the 1942-43 term.

The district, school officials explained has made operating classes at a loss and also is in need of cash to repair a roof and classrooms in the old section of the consolidated school building at Mt. Victory.

Recreation Program Arranged at Bucyrus

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, May 7—A recreational program for members of the 753rd Engineers Battalion, United States army, in training here was outlined at a meeting of the Civilian Defense recreation committee by Lloyd W. Reese of the Federal Security administration.

Reese urged the establishment of a comprehensive athletic program, dance and reception gatherings and a service center.

Full cooperation in getting the program underway was promised by E. B. Hagaman YMCA secretary and by the Chamber of Commerce representative of 335 fraternal and service organizations also pledged their support.

A public meeting was held last night at the high school auditorium to discuss the proposed program.

British Mother Awaits Stork-Quints Maybe

By The Associated Press

ABINGDON, England, May 7—Seven doctors and nurses maintained a constant vigil today over Mrs. Emily Woodley, who is expecting a multiple birth—possibly quintuplets.

Young Dr. J. H. Fisher who is in charge of the case in the hospital of this quiet little Berkshire village, said four or five babies might be born any day to Mrs. Woodley, 28-year-old wife of a soldier.

The hospital matron declared "We are certain about three of them, anyway."

Dr. Fisher spends every spare moment reading all available records of the famous Dionne quintuplets of Canada.

To Help Keep America In Fine Fighting Fettle, Conserve Precious Rubber and Metal;

So Here's 4 Ways To Save Ourselves Money and Trouble

To Do a Vital War Duty That's Double--

4 Ways To Help Ourselves While We Help Our Doughty Yanks Get More Guns, Planes, Ships and Tanks

1. Fasten electrical extension cords wherever possible to baseboards, instead of running them under rugs or through doorways where they may be stepped upon, their insulation damaged and their life shortened, and also where eventual "short circuits" in them may burn expensive rugs. The wire in all cords is copper, a precious war metal, and the covering of many is "rubber."

2. Have frayed or worn places on ALL cords, whether extension, lamp, or appliance cords, repaired promptly, so "short circuits" will not occur to result in replacement of "blown fuses," and perhaps render the cords unusable.

3. Prolong the life of automatic heat regulators and heating elements in irons by soaring them from use whenever possible; turning the irons off, for instance, when answering the door or telephone.

4. Attach portable appliances—particularly heating devices, irons, toasters, percolators, etc.—only to wall, floor or range plugs, and NOT TO LAMP SOCKETS. Ordinary lamp sockets, made for only 300 watts or less, are "overloaded" when attached to such appliances which use from 350 watts to over 1000 watts. This breaks down the socket's mechanism, shortens their life, and renders them rather unsafe.

Reasonably careful attention by all of us to the above four points will greatly lessen our own inconvenience caused by blown fuses with the resultant interruption to our electric service. It will also lighten the expense of premature replacement of fuses, cords and appliances.

The big, the important, yes, the vital thing, however, is of course that much rubber and metals can thereby be diverted without hardship to anyone into a swiftly swelling stream of guns, planes ships and tanks for those quickly thickening ranks of fighting men known the world 'round as "The Yanks."

"shooting war" between United States and French ...ces, but Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), a committee member, urged ...ed action.

"I think we ought to go ahead and take those French islands without calling," Pepper told reporters. "We haven't got time to fool with the niceties with people who are sticking us in the back."

The Florida senator also declared the United States should inform Portugal and Spain that axis use of their Atlantic possessions would not be tolerated.

He proposed that the United States suggest to Portugal that this country take over the Azores and Cape Verde islands under a kind of trusteeship for the duration of the war to prevent axis infiltration.

Pepper contended that French resistance in Madagascar showed that country was moving "closer and closer to the orbit of the axis."

Connally said at a press conference that he would advocate taking Martinique, French Guiana and all French possessions in the western hemisphere if there is any armed conflict with the French over Madagascar or any threat that any of these places in anywise would be used to help the enemy.

Senator Clark (D-Mo.), another member of the committee, said that only the President had sufficient information to determine the strategical questions involved.

FOOD SHIPMENTS HAMPERED BY WAR

Wickard Says Heavy Strain Put on Transportation.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 7—Secretary of Agriculture Wickard declared today the war's strain on the nation's distribution system was placing "serious obstacles in the way of getting food to American consumers."

"In transportation — by rail, truck or ship—the situation is so tight that we cannot afford to move anything that is not absolutely essential . . . In fact, there is so much to be moved that usually it is a case of which essential product has priority over other essential goods," he asserted in a speech prepared for delivery before a conference of governors and other state and federal officials on governmental laws and regulations which restrict the war effort.

"Producing farm products is, of course only the first step. Food, as one of the munitions of total war, is effective only when it is in the right form, at the right place, at the right time. To waste food after it is raised is as bad as falling short of production."

Wickard said the federal government was doing all it could to iron out processing and transportation problems.

Caledonia Couple Get Pearl Harbor Call from Son

A Mother's day greeting from Pearl Harbor came last night to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sickel of Caledonia from their son, Wayne Wright Sickel, who is in civil service employment in the Pearl Harbor navy yards.

A cablegram yesterday morning informed them that all was well and the afternoon or evening a telephone call would come through from Pearl Harbor. In the afternoon a call came from an operator in California, telling them to be at home about 7 and cautioned them as to what they would be permitted to say.

At 7 last night their phone rang and their son was on the line, telling them that he was well and happy and enjoying his work. Mrs. Sickel, who knew better but in the excitement of the call forgot, asked the usual question about the weather and heard her son laugh and say: "Sorry, mother, but that's something I can't tell you."

Mr. Sickel formerly employed at the North Electric Co. in Galion, has been at Pearl Harbor about 10 months. He and his parents have communicated regularly and several weeks ago he sent a Hawaiian grass skirt to his cousin, Jerry Timson of Caledonia.

Sycamore Rebekah Club Meets with Mrs. Caughey

Special to The Star

SYCAMORE — The Rebekah club met Friday afternoon with Mrs. Wheeler Caughey. Seven members were present. During the "profit and pleasure" hour, Miss Martha Asbury showed two old letters of unusual interest. One was sent in 1861 from Sycamore to Chillicothe with the postmark written with a pen and the stamp hand-cancelled. The other was dated 1851 and was sent from Illinois. It bore no stamp and no envelope had been used. The letter was folded and had been sealed with wax. The text of the letter included the story of a trip from Ohio to Illinois.

Mrs. Caughey read the legend of the dogwood tree. It was announced the June meeting of the club will be a picnic.

Official U. S. Treasury War Bond Quotas For May

The above map of Ohio shows the War Bond quotas, by counties, for the month of May, 1942. Total War Bond quota for the State is $31,768,700. Every income earner in the State is expected to step-up War Bond purchases on a basis of ten per cent or more of income. This is necessary to help America's armed forces take the offensive against the Axis powers. The American voluntary method of War Bond purchases must be successful in reaching the quotas set by the Treasury Department for every county in the nation. The job of every American now is to stop spending and save dollars to help win the war.

Cork Suppy Fails So Two Professors Find New Source

Wide World

SEATTLE, May 7—Cork has given a modest way of ending while it serves its useful purposes that, no doubt, Mr. and Mrs. Consumer are now alarmed to quake yet about a cork shortage.

But the shortage is here. The cork we use comes from Spain and Portugal. And right now the sea routes to those spots is no picnic. So the cork on hand is being carefully doled out.

It's used to back our linoleum floor coverings. It does a hundred and one insulating jobs, many of them on military equipment. And it stoppers our bottles. It's a unique material for those jobs because it's water resistant, and it "gives."

Manufacturers have been hunting unhappily for a substitute, and now two professors of the University of Washington forestry faculty offer an answer.

Prof. Bror L. Grondal and Dr. Frederick Wangaard have found a commercially usable cork in the bark of the Douglas fir and the Douglas is extremely plentiful in this country.

Grondal says research men always have known the Douglas bark had cork but the trick was to get it out in a form that manufacturers could use.

The cork lies in thin light-colored layers through the Douglas bark. A cross-section looks exactly like a slice of marble cake! The light streaks being the cork.

Grondal and Wangaard set out in January to reclaim the cork. And they set themselves the extra job of doing it with machinery that is already available.

There are three steps to the process. First they grind chunks of the bark in a big meat chopper. That pulverizes most of the bark in a reddish powder. The cork seems to squeeze through because it's more pliable. It comes out in pieces slightly larger than your thumbnail.

Then the mixture of cork and pulverized bark goes through a screening process and then another pulverizing process in a revolving drum where the last vestiges of bark are pounded off the cork. The result can be pressed into sheets for the insulating jobs.

But it won't make stoppers for bottles.

However, the discovery means that we can keep at home the $8,000,000 or so we spent each year for the Mediterranean cork. And it means new wealth for the Pacific northwest where the biggest stands of Douglas fir exist.

Dental Corps Posts Open Only to 1-A Men

Vacancies in the dental corps are reserved, for the present, only for those dentists who are in Class 1-A or who have been inducted, according to an announcement today by Dr. C. S. Kirk of Galion, central Ohio chairman of procurement and assignment service, he reported today.

Dr. Kirk received an announcement from Dr. Frank C. Starr, state chairman of the procurement and assignment service, who was notified in a telegram sent by the office of the surgeon general.

Dr. Starr reported that he was authorized to announce that 1,000 officers may expect early commissions and that those in Class 1-A should apply immediately to the office of the surgeon general for application forms stating age, that they are in Class 1-A, name, address, and school of graduation. All applications will be cleared through the procurement and assignment service, according to Dr. Starr.

VALEDICTORIAN NAMED AT MORRAL SCHOOL

Miss Florence Gibb Chosen; Holds Countywide Mark.

Miss Florence Gibb has been chosen valedictorian for the Morral High school commencement.

Miss Gibb, a senior, has an "A" average in high school studies. She had the highest mark made by a girl in the annual scholarship test in Marion county. Last fall she was first in the essay contest, sponsored by The Star for county schools. She was also highest last February in the D. A. R. citizenship contest for senior girls in city and county schools.

At the school's junior-senior banquet Saturday night at Hotel Harding the program was carried out as a school day. Miss Lenore Burber, of the faculty, was toastmistress. It opened with a welcome by Annabelle Granlee, junior class president; response was by William Schertzer, senior class president; clarinet solo by Doris Ulmer. First class was in charge of Supt. V. L. Anderson; second class was the prophecy by Lucy Mercer; third class was the will by Dale Healea; fourth class, was in charge of County Supt. D. T. Mills. After recess, there was a party for all 42 attending at the Palace theater.

Dr. Richard Morgan Is Academy Treasurer

Dr. Richard Morgan was chosen treasurer of the Marion Academy of Medicine at a meeting Tuesday night. Dr. Morgan replaced Dr. Clovis J. Altmaier, former treasurer, who recently enlisted in the armed services of the U. S. Dr. Altmaier had served about a year as treasurer, having relieved Dr. Karl H. Feldkamp, who also was called into the army.

MARION MAN IS REPORTED MISSING

Authorities Asked To Search for C. D. Carey.

Marion police and the Marion county sheriff's staff were looking for 72-year-old C. D. Carey today after his wife reported he has been missing since early yesterday morning.

She said Mr. Carey, who lives at 658 North Main street, left the house attired in hunting clothes and accompanied by his black and tan hunting dog. She said he had on black boots and a dark hunting coat.

Although police and the sheriff's office were notified last night, no word of Mr. Carey's whereabouts has yet been reported.

TWO OHIO OFFICERS CITED FOR BRAVERY

Tales of Valor Come from Far Pacific Battles.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 7—New tales of valor in combat and the skillful handling of planes under difficult conditions emerged today from the terse and formal phrases of official citations as the war department conferred decorations on 16 officers and an enlisted man of the army air forces, including two Ohio officers.

Some of the eight distinguished service crosses and eleven distinguished flying crosses were awarded for courage in the face of shattering enemy fire in the first attacks on Clark field in the Philippines, others were for later actions in the southwest Pacific.

Captain Elmer L. Parcel, of Plymouth, O., whose death with eight other officers and men of Maj. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton's command on April 2 was announced yesterday in New Delhi, India, was cited with Captain Donald M. Kelser of McComb, O., Captain Edward C. Teats of Sharpsburg, Pa., and First Lieutenant Earl R. Tash of Walla Walla, Wash., for a long and hazardous bombing mission against Japanese shipping in the Philippines from a base in the Indies. All received the DFC.

Their first objective, after a trip of 1,500 miles, was the Gulf of Davao, where they damaged several ships and started numerous fires along the shore. Landing after dark at a Philippine field, they refueled and reloaded, and proceeded to Lingayen gulf, Luzon, bombing transports there, returning to their base after nearly 32 hours of continuous flight. The mission began on December 22.

JAP ACTIVITY

to turn in full fury on China in an effort to knock out that potentially powerful United Nations force.

As the war in the Pacific entered its sixth month, these military experts pointed out, however, that the headlong rush of the Japs had carried them to a point where they might turn in any of several directions. Their only reasonably sure course will be an attempt to cut the supply line to Australia.

Experts here view the possibilities in order of their probable occurrence thus:

1. A pincer's squeeze on China, one main force striking from the north and the other from the south, the latter employing the armies already emerging from Burma into China.

2. An attack on Russia, which military men unanimously agree the Japanese will undertake sooner or later. The timing is almost certain to depend on developments on the Russo-German front.

3. An assault on Australia itself probably designed to wipe out north coast bases for allied offensive action.

4. Raids in force, if not full scale attacks, against either Hawaii or Alaska or both because of their offensive threat.

5. The conquest of India, or at least its eastern coastal areas and sections near Burma, an undertaking which might well depend on whether the Japanese could expect a friendly or an actively hostile populace.

The mere magnitude of these possibilities suggests, military men said, that before the United Nations can turn the tide of war in the Pacific they must expect to suffer heavy new blows. For some time yet their own offensive thrusts appear destined to be limited to aerial actions.

It is the likelihood of these increasing aerial actions, however, that must be of primary concern to the Japanese and if they actually have reason to suspect, as they once said they did, that the planes which bombed Tokyo landed on fields in China then an attempt to knock out those fields would be a logical move.

Against this dark prospect in the Pacific, many experts were inclined to balance several brighter elements in the European picture. Chief among these were Britain's American-backed aerial offensive against Germany and Germany's own failure to make good her spring offensive threats.

BEEKEEPERS TO MEET

Discussions of timely topics for the month and a question box by Merle Young will make up a program hour for a meeting of the Marion County Bee Keepers association Friday night at the Y. M. C. A.

Hitler's Hold on Germany Gained Through Youths

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

There have been indications lately of disaffection in Germany, the latest being the report (unconfirmed but from a responsible source) that some of Hitler's generals have notified him that the 1942 campaign in Russia fails they will try to institute a plan of their own calling for the formation of a [illegible]

Naturally the question arises as to how much of a hold Nazism has on the German people. In this connection Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt has put her finger on a sore point when she observes that it will require many years after the war to educate German youth to understand that democracy is better than Hitler's theory of racial superiority and mastery for other peoples.

Post-war Problem

That certainly is true, and it will represent a great post-war problem. But it also is a matter of immediate moment, since Hitler is depending heavily on the support of young Germany to pull him through.

The manner in which the young German mind has been Hitlerized since the fuehrer assumed control nine years ago is phenomenal. So thoroughly has it been done that Nazi youth sees only one goal—supremacy of the German race.

Hitler has become the supreme being for these young folk. To vast numbers of them he is literally another Messiah and has come to take the place of the God of their fathers.

And throughout this pagan structure runs the awful spirit of brutal militarism. Might is right, and the Germans are the supreme race to which the rest of the world must bow.

Young men and women have become so fanatical that many are willing to lay their lives on the Hitler altar. Youth ready to undertake "suicide" tasks if Hitler wills it, and the girls, both married and unmarried, are carrying out the fuehrer's teaching that their mission is to bear sons to wage war for Germany.

This scheme of monopolizing the young mind is one of the reasons for Hitler's war on the churches, which have fought to keep from surrendering all training of the children to him.

Discontent Among Older

With the young folk thus regimented, such discontent as there may be—and there is small doubt that it exists—is mainly among the older people who have submitted to the Nazi chief's rule but haven't become Hitlerized. It is doubtful whether many of the German youth are deserting their messiah.

I know from personal study in Germany just before the war that many of the older people were opposed to the Nazi attitude toward religion, to the Hitlerization of childhood, to the persecution of the Jews, and even to expansion by force of arms.

It is among the elders that we are likely to find the most discontent, and many observers believe this might reach the breaking point in time, just as it did in World war number one. The Russian report that some of the Germans they are capturing are thoroughly fed up with the fuehrer and his bloody war.

We must assume, however, that it will take much to shake the loyalty of young Germany as a whole in Hitler's leadership.

And when the war is over and the allies have won—as they will—they will encounter the hold-over of this spirit of Hitlerism among the younger people of the fatherland. As Mrs. Roosevelt indicates, it will take long to teach them that they have been worshipping false gods.

WAR SAVINGS

"I wonder if the citizens of Ohio, and of the nation for that matter, fully understand the importance of the present campaign to determine their willingness to contribute to the financing of this war on a voluntary basis," Mr. Trounstine asked, in speaking of house-to-house drive for pledges.

"The government has committed itself to spend seventy-two thousand millions in the fiscal year beginning in July. If we pledge ourselves, and if we fulfill those pledges to buy a billion dollars worth of war bonds, which means, of course, we promise to save that much money for ourselves, the government still has a job of public borrowing of approximately 35 to 40 billion dollars.

Opportunity To Serve

"It must be obvious to all of us that we now have the rare, democratic opportunity of deciding for ourselves whether we save this money for the post-war let-down, or whether we actually force the government to deduct the billion a month from our payroll. Whether that deduction will be savings or whether it will be in reality, a payroll tax is, I believe, up to congress. I am absolutely convinced that if every one of us understands the importance of the voluntary plan and of our individual participation in it, there will be no necessity for the enforced savings or tax plan."

"I should be very happy to see the little blue sticker indicating that the members of that household have signed their war bond pledge, in every home on every street in the United States. If we can accomplish that, we will have avoided the harsh implications of a compulsory plan which at best, is highly undesirable."

BRICKER CHARGES POLITICS IN DEFENSE

Declares Ohio Organization Stopped by U. S.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, May 7—Federal authorization have stopped the defense organization of Ohio for political purposes," Gov. Bricker charged before Ohio's Federation of Republican women.

The governor, in a speech last night before the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's clubs mentioned no names, but he obviously referred to the current stalemate over the appointment of Harry T. Beckmann of Van Wert as state rationing administrator.

Beckmann's appointment was recommended by Bricker to federal officials who will take charge of all state rationing systems. The governor previously had said the appointment was held up because he submitted only Beckman's name instead of a panel.

Beckmann has been serving the state without salary as a volunteer worker, but Bricker told the Republican women the prospective appointee was called to Cleveland and advised he was to be placed on an $8,000 a year salary and given 15-high-salaried assistants.

Bricker said the man he appointed had been willing and able to serve without salary and has been praised in writing by Price Administrator Leon Henderson.

"They have stopped the defense organization of Ohio for political purposes," Bricker added. "Until a few days ago I did not even know the politics of the man I appointed * * * I knew he had a fine reputation, that he was not dependent on any earnings, and that he was competent. I have never permitted politics to influence appointments in defense efforts and I insist that the national government do the same."

Bricker's charges followed by a week his peace conference with Dan T. Moore, regional civilian defense director, over administration of civilian home front protection in Ohio. They agreed at a joint conference here to discuss together all fundamental issues of policy and to issue statements on their decisions.

Inhalator Squad Helps Baby Get Start in Life

The inhalator squad from Central fire station helped to assure life for a baby today.

A son born to Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKinley of 272 Lincoln avenue at 6:15 this morning seemed to be having difficult in breathing, and the inhalator squad was called about 9:20. The squad worked on the infant about 30 minutes.

The attending physician said later that both mother and son were getting along all right.

MADAGASCAR

Axis radio broadcasts stressing difficulties of the defense and the numerical superiority of the British seemed to be preparing their listeners for loss of the base and observers said the French forces might take to the hills for guerrilla warfare.

Draft Surrender Terms

The war office, the admiralty, the ministry of information and Churchill contributed to details of the quick conquest, which began with a landing on the northwest side of the island at Courrier bay and progressed eastward to the successive capture of the village of Diego, the chief town, Antsirana, and the Diego Suarez naval base, which lies deep in the bay southwest of Antsirana.

Surrender terms are being drafted and the British naval squadron will enter the main harbor this afternoon as soon as mines have been swept up, Churchill stated.

It was disclosed that, in addition to the major landings at Courrier bay, other forces went ashore at Ambararata bay to the south.

Diplomatic circles here were watching Vichy closely for retaliatory action by the Pierre Laval government.

Free French said this might take the form of some naval aid to the axis, probably the allocation of French cruisers and destroyers to the German fleet.

Informed British diplomatic sources expressed doubt whether the French fleet "would fight with or for the Germans."

Prime Minister Churchill praised the gallantry of the French and expressed regret that blood had been shed.

While Britain thus swiftly demonstrated the rise of her offensive striking power on Madagascar, the Italian high command indicated that other British assault forces were active in the Mediterranean.

"An enemy raid which was attempted against the island of Kupho, south of Crete, was promptly repulsed by our garrison there," an Italian communique said tersely.

Off Tip of Crete

Presumably the attack was carried out by sea-borne British troops. Kupho lies five miles off the southeast tip of Crete, which German parachutists captured from the British after the fall of Greece last year. It is about 250 miles from the nearest point on the North African coast.

Other developments:

Russian dispatches reported that the Red armies, attacking across bogs in an important sector west of long-besieged Leningrad, had captured a junction point which the Germans had held all winter and thus had cut the road between the northern and southern wings of the German siege armies.

Hitler's field headquarters said heavy casualties had been inflicted on the Russians in violent fighting in the north and reported a "lull on large sections of the front" elsewhere.

On the North African battlefield, an Italian communique announced that British armored forces had advanced to a point east of El Mechili—one of the deepest British thrusts to the west since their retreat last February.

The communique said the British had been driven back under heavy artillery fire.

El Mechili is about 120 miles west of Tobruk.

Geology is being estimated that Russia has natural gas reserves [illegible] billion to 200 billion [illegible] almost as much as the United States.

$500 DAMAGE IN COLUMBIA ST. FIRE

Blaze Spreads from Hot Air Chute from Furnace.

Fire did $500 damage to the J. P. Manley residence at 625 West Columbia street at 11 p. m. yesterday.

The blaze, which started in a hot air chute from a furnace, badly damaged a floor in an upstairs room. The flames also crept up an inside chimney outlet and burned a considerable area on the roof.

All members of the Manley family excepting Mrs. Manley were downstairs at the time, but James J. Leighty Jr., son of Mrs. Manley, discovered the fire when he smelled smoke coming from upstairs. He turned in the alarm. Firemen from Central and West Side stations put out the flames.

NEW HOTEL OPENED ON N. MAIN STREET

"Victory House" To Operate at Former Pruzzo Location.

A 22-room hotel known as the Victory House has been opened at 201½ North Main street by Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Warner, operators of apartment houses here for several years.

The hotel is located in the building which formerly housed a rooming establishment operated by Louis Pruzzo, who closed the business about eight years ago. All rooms have been redecorated and new furnishings have been installed.

Desk service will be maintained 24 hours a day, Mr. Warner said today.

Mrs. Nora Addison of Crestline Dies

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE, May 7 — Mrs. Nora Addison, 63, wife of Ralph Addison of Crestline, died early today at the home of her brother, in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Garry Vanzile of north of here.

Surviving with the husband are a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Louthan of Akron, two sisters, Mrs. Vanzile and Mrs. Catherine Bauer of Akron, and two brothers, Peter and Thomas McGowan of Winona.

Friends may call at the Vanzile home after noon Friday. Funeral services will be at the home at 2:30 p. m. Saturday. Burial will be made in Green Lawn cemetery.

TIRE SEIZURE

needed in the war program, and he saw no need for new legislation.

"I'm getting tired of unnecessarily pushing people around to satisfy the egotism of some bureaucrats," the Colorado senator declared. "The American people are anxious to make any sacrifices essential to the war effort, but they are getting tired of being pushed around."

With somewhat the same attitude, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said he believed the objective could be accomplished by voluntary appeals to motorists to sell to the government any unneeded tires they had and to exercise care with those on their cars.

Chairman Reynolds (D-NC) predicted the committee would approve the legislation Saturday despite this opposition.

The government officials urging requisitioning of cars appeared at a closed session of the senate committee, but Chairman Reynolds related some of their testimony to reporters. He quoted them as saying the shortage of rubber had become critical from a military standpoint.

Predicting that the committee would approve the pending legislation, Reynolds said the government was faced with the necessity of taking "every ounce of rubber not being used in war or essential civilian activities."

This might result, Reynolds said, in the requisition of all tires over five for any one car, a procedure which the government would be permitted to follow under terms of the auto seizure bill which was introduced by Senator Downey (D.), California.

The government would pay the owners for any automobiles or tires that might be requisitioned.

The seven officials who appeared before the committee were Price Administrator Leon Henderson, Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson, Deputy Petroleum Coordinator Ralph K. Davies, Director of Transportation Joseph B. Eastman, Budget Director Harold Smith, Arthur B. Newhall, deputy director of the purchasing division of the war production board, and F. Eberstadt, chairman of the army and navy munitions board.

Those who have tires now are going to be able to keep them, but there was no hope in sight that they could get new ones.

Although Henderson was reported to have intimated to the committee that he had sufficient authority at present to commandeer autos and tires, he and other witnesses were said to have urged passage of the authorization bill by congress for its psychological effect.

Senator Hill (D.), Alabama, said it was made plain that the government did not now intend to take away a citizen's car unless the public failed to curb unnecessary driving or failed to maintain the low speeds which would conserve tires.

Bond Campaign Workers Meet

stamps will be available to buy those homes and keep industry moving, then employed families supplied with the things they enjoyed before the war.

"This war bond and stamp pledge campaign is the greatest opportunity ever given the American people to show their gratitude for being free people," Mr. Bredlow declared. "There may be a few today who will be strictly in terms of [illegible]. They can discount everything else in the war, yet bond buying is the best thing they can do for their selfish selves if they want to do it for anyone [illegible]

Hits "Slacker Dollars"

"This war must be won and no one will argue for it but you and I. Today we must make fighting dollars of the dollars we once spent for waffle irons and refrigerators and when this war is over we can make more dollars to buy more things again. The liberties and freedom we have enjoyed cannot be taken for granted. To save ours to enjoy for ourselves and future generations of us are willing to fight for them today and it will take a fight. When you make slacker dollars by loaning them idle or spending them for things needed for the war effort you do not have to be a sympathizer with Hitler, government or any other enemy power, but believe me you would be helping them when you waste or misspend dollars today. These boys on Corregidor tonight, if they could talk to you, they could say we cannot go along in this conflict with too little too late. If we continue on the basis of too little too late much longer we can lose this war. Don't forget, it is not a dead cer-[illegible] that we will win."

A spontaneous outburst of applause greeted his declaration.

"I believe we are going to win because I believe in America and what it stands for."

Not "Police" Job

Mr. Bredlow told the canvassers not to go about their work as "policemen or prying into other people's affairs, asking about family incomes and suggesting specified amounts to be pledged for bonds and stamps.

"It is your duty to provide the opportunity for individuals to sign a pledge for the amount they see fit to invest with their government. You are asking them only as a patriotic duty to give this needed information to the government. Let the signing of the pledge be your one and only objective."

Tone of the meeting was set by E. J. Schoenlaub, Marion county chairman of sales of war bonds and stamps, when he pointed to the Harding High school band which had furnished stirring martial music and said:

"This war is awfully serious to me. What are we fighting for? These kids in the band, our boys at the front."

Mayor Speaks

Mayor Russell C. Snare said: "We are in a victory drive and I know you men and women are interested. Our boys are enlisted in the service for the duration. We are called upon to enlist our dollars for the duration. Let us all put our shoulders behind the wheel and put Marion among the top cities in Ohio in war bond pledges. Marion is proud of you workers. It is taking your time but it is a privilege to do this work. This war will take money."

Harold J. Grigsby, president of the Kiwanis club, who has worked with Dr. Harry L. Bell of Central Christian church, the club's citizenship chairman, in setting up the campaign, presided.

In introducing Miss Maud Gorham head of the women's division of the county's war bond and stamp committees, he praised her as "one of the greatest organizers I have ever met." In presenting Mrs. Eugene Willey, head of the canteen service, he spoke of her months of work in setting up the service and said she had enlisted her canteen workers in the canvass.

Rural Head Introduced

Also introduced were A. J. Loudensinger, head of the workers in the county who started their drive several days ago, and E. Paul Bachman of the National City bank.

Also on the platform were Fred P. Strother, head of the Harding area of Boy Scouts, who led the audience in the pledge of allegiance, and L. G. Jones, public school music supervisor, who led assembly singing of "God Bless America."

Mr. Bachman spoke briefly, explaining the three types of bonds the government offers, E, F and G.

Mr. Grigsby in opening the meeting read point five of the President's seven-point plan for the war, relative to keeping down the high cost of living by buying war bonds with money which might be used for non-essentials.

Explains Purpose

"The purpose of our drive is to go out and enlist earning power for our government," he said. "We have been supplying boys and will supply more. The government can estimate the amount of taxes and bank credit but it has no way of knowing how much people are going to put in bonds."

Both Mr. Grigsby and Mr. Bredlow paid tribute to the work of Mr. Schoenlaub who was one of the active leaders in the sale of bonds and stamps in Marion county during the first world war.

Louis E. Michel, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, explained to the workers how they are to fill out the pledge forms and he and Mr. Bredlow answered questions from the workers.

ENGINE LABORATORY READY AT CLEVELAND

$18,000,000 Plant Ready To Start Operations.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 7—Airplane research planned to keep the United States in the forefront of world airpower will begin here tomorrow.

Motors will roar into test runs at the engine-propeller research building, first unit of the $18,000,000 Cleveland aircraft engine laboratory to reach the operating stage.

The national advisory committee for aeronautics is in charge of the laboratory.

Originally planned as an $8,000,000 project, the scope of the laboratory has been enlarged several times.

The committee has received from congress authorizations to speed the project to completion and it has announced that virtually all research activities will be under way by the end of 1942.

Ground was broken for the project by Lieut. Gen. George H. Brett, now commander of United Nations air forces in the southwest Pacific.

CONFERENCE TO STUDY OHIO EVACUATION PLANS

Mayors of Nine Cities on Special Defense Committee.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 7—Plans for evacuating civilians from defense areas in case of air raids or other emergencies are to be considered here next Wednesday and Thursday by a state civilian defense evacuation committee appointed today by Gov. Bricker.

In announcing the two-day meeting the governor said "the war situation has reached a point where many industrial centers must include complete evacuation plans in their protection program."

Mayors of nine cities designated as potential target areas, in addition to representatives of the Red Cross, the army, state departments, labor, business and industrial organizations, the state highway patrol and the state guard will discuss the problem of housing and caring for the evacuees, the governor said.

Mayors appointed to the committee and invited to the conference are Frank J. Lausche of Cleveland; Fred C. Eichelberger of Dayton; John Q. Carey of Toledo; George J. Harter of Akron; William B. Spagnola of Youngstown; E. S. Folk of Canton; John R. Voller of Springfield; James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati, and Floyd E. Green of Columbus.

through mine-studded waters around Corregidor island.

"The initial landing was effected at 11 p. m. when a three-column Japanese invasion party crossed over to Corregidor in the face of terrific enemy fire, with the second and third landing parties following in their wake in rapid succession in the early hours of Wednesday.

"Smashing their way through barbed wire entanglements and other fortifications, Japanese forces with bayonets and sabers bared for action plunged into enemy positions, engaging the enemy in sanguinary hand-to-hand fighting.

"The Japanese troops destroyed enemy resistance along the south side of the island, battled their way into the interior of the island and the initial landing parties were further strengthened with fresh troops from the mainland.

"Fierce encounters between Japanese and Filipino-American forces continued throughout Wednesday with Japanese bombers furiously pounding enemy fortifications to pave the way for a Japanese advance.

Planes Silence Guns

"Formations of Japanese warplanes roaring down on Caballo island (Fort Hughes) located to the southwest of Corregidor Wednesday morning blasted enemy artillery positions.

"In the course of fighting Wednesday, Japanese detachments captured the airdrome on Corregidor island while another forced stormed and captured Malinta Hill, which, soaring about 500 feet above the waters of Manila bay, is situated on the central part of the island.

"The epochal struggle for command of the American stronghold came to an end Thursday morning, and headquarters of the Japanese expeditionary force announced at 5 p. m. Thursday that "all enemy positions in the mouth of Manila bay were occupied at 8 a. m. today by Japanese forces."

The Stars Say—

For Friday, May 8

PERPLEXITY, confusion and probably keen disappointment are the adverse aspects dominant in this day's planetary chart. Affairs generally may be subject to this disturbing condition although the intimate affairs are more likely to be affected, with romance and other emotional relations subject to surprising or erratic development. Sudden change of a radical and uprooting force may be encountered, with disruptive visitations in home or love affairs. Sound judgment, discreet and regulated conduct are enjoined especially in dealings with the opposite sex. Be alert to duplicity.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves plunged into a year of deception, imposition, disruption and disappointment, particularly in the domestic, social, or emotional life. Obstacles and frustration may prove upsetting, but if radical change be necessary be discreet, moderate and regular rather than reckless, hasty and impetuous. Particularly circumspect conduct is recommended in dealing with the opposite sex. Safeguard the health and possessions as well.

A child born on this day may have a melancholy, morbid or erratic tendency which may have unhappy reactions on its intimate life, unless its supervision receive early direction or discipline. This applies particularly to females.

Secret Orders

BY ELEANOR ATTERBURY

...every shred of courage she could mustered. She mustn't let hysteria get the upper hand now.

She tried to rest once, forced herself to stretch out on the grimy cot. But her tortured nerves rebelled. It was easier when she stood peering out the window, or face pressed against the door jam.

And finally her vigilance was rewarded. The sound of a door opening in the next room. The harsh grating of chairs pushed back, the shuffle of feet. Then a new voice speaking smooth, rapid German.

Stephanie's heart leapt to her throat. That new voice—so very familiar. She was sure of it even before she murmured, soundlessly, "That's Henri de la Pagerie!"

After the first moment, she wondered why she was not thrilled. Because of course this meant that Henri had located her kidnapers, come to rescue her. Or did it? Liu's frightened warning of last evening came blazing back into her mind. Could this be the same hovel where Liu had said she saw Hajam?

She hadn't long to entertain the ragged army of new fears before she heard steps crossing the room, coming closer to the door where she stood. She stepped back as a key grated in the lock, the door was jerked open.

It was Henri all right. Even in the half light she recognized him instantly. Even though, she saw instantly, this was a Henri she had never seen before.

"Stephanie, my dear, are you all right?"

His voice sounded the same as always. Still Stephanie sensed a strange difference in him. "Yes. I'm not hurt, at least."

He closed the door behind him, carefully. "And you will be in no serious danger," he hesitated, smiled, "if you do as you are told."

Instantly Stephanie's suspicions sounded an alert. "What do you mean?"

"It is rather a long story, my dear. Suppose we sit down?

"Thank you. I'll stand if you don't mind."

Deliberately, he laid his pearl grey hat, gloves on the cot, took out his cigarette case. "Smoke."

"No thanks," and watched him with mounting terror. A new cruelty was in his face—or perhaps she was only now seeing something that had been there all the time.

"I suppose you are wondering why you are here?"

"Naturally."

"Naturally." He bowed slightly. "We decided that you could contribute something to the cause."

"Cause?" forcing her voice down to naturalness.

"The cause of the Fatherland," he explained coolly. "We need your help."

"What are you trying to tell me?" she demanded.

"That while I dislike immensely having to inconvenience you like this—" he shrugged, glanced around the dismal room. "Still—war is war and duty is duty."

"I still do not understand."

Now his smile bared his even white teeth. "Your father is the controlling figure in an industry which interests us very much—the making of gun-powder—dynamite. At the moment we are most interested in the shipment [illegible]

...[illegible] laughing. A shipment destined, we understand, for China, and in view the [illegible]

Two pieces in a jig-saw puzzle, remembered incidents began fitting together to make a pic[illegible] Stephanie's guard. Henri's great interest in her father, in the powder plant at Tulan, his increased "devotion" to Vicky involving his constant visits to the big old Merrill home. Liu's warning. The shock of Henri's sudden appearance out of the parlor only last evening.

"We are concerned about that ship, Stephanie," he went on smoothly. "We are determined it shall not leave this harbor."

"And what's to stop it?" she demanded, coolly, while inside her calm smashed all to pieces.

He looked at her a moment, that snaky smile still curving his thin lips. "You are."

Stephanie stared at him, incredulous. "I am."

YANKEES BLANK TRIBE 3 TO 0 TO TAKE LEAGUE LEAD

Bonham Hurls 5-Hit Ball in Mound Duel with Jim Bagby.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 7—Cleveland's hot-and-cold Indians close their first eastern road trip in Yankee stadium today, and the worst that can happen to them is a .500 average for the 10-game tour.

After winning three in Philadelphia and two in Washington, the Tribe dropped three to Boston, and yesterday lost to New York 3 to 0. If veteran Mel Harder's slants fool the locals today, Cleveland will be back in first place.

Yesterday's shut out was the third in four starts this season for Ernie Bonham. He scattered five Cleveland singles over five innings, and allowed one man to reach second base but no one to pass it.

Bagby's First Loss

It was the first defeat for Jim Bagby, who had won five straight.

The season's first clash between the Yankees and the Redskins took an hour and 24 minutes to play, one of the shortest contests of the year.

The Yanks' first run, scored in the third inning, came after Bill Dickey opened with a single and went to third as Hockett let the ball go through and crossed the plate when Heath juggled Phil Rizzuto's short fly and threw wide at the plate.

Singles by Charlie Keller, Joe Gordon and Dickey brought in another in the next frame. Frank Crosetti's single, a sacrifice, and a hit by Tommy Henrich produced one in the eighth.

It was Cleveland's fourth straight loss after winning 13 in a row and dropped the Tribe into a tie for second with the Boston Red Sox, who nosed out the Chicago White Sox, 3-1.

Lyons Flings 6-Hitter

The latter game was a stirring pitching duel between old Ted Lyons and Joe Dobson, each of whom allowed six hits.

Buck Newsome pushed back into the spotlight by pitching the Washington Senators to a 7-0 shutout of the Detroit Tigers on one hit—a triple by Doc Cramer.

Elden Auker submarined the St. Louis Browns to a 7-2 decision over the Philadelphia Athletics by keeping seven hits scattered.

Only one game was played in the National league. The St. Louis Cardinals plastered an 11-2 defeat on the last place Phils.

The Cincinnati Reds and the Boston Braves hope to start their first 1942 series today, the Reds possibly with a slightly different team as a result of business activities yesterday, when the teams couldn't play.

If Max Marshall, outfielder bought from Columbus, of the American Association, shows up in time, he's to go into right field for the duration of Ival Goodman's current disability.

Elmer Riddle for the Reds and Dick Errickson for the Braves are the pitchers.

Other games were postponed because of the weather.

Wayne University May Reduce Minor Sports Schedule

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, May 7—Wayne university, whose 10,000 students make it one of the nation's largest institutions of advanced learning, is ready to eliminate all inter-collegiate sports save football and basketball for the war duration for intensification of mass physical fitness programs.

The university's athletic advisory committee recommended that baseball, track and tennis competition be dropped. Competition in swimming, cross country, golf and fencing previously was abolished. The committee's suggestion is now equivalent to official approval.

The committee said it found a decided shortage in coaching and playing talent in minor sports programs and also a decline in attendance.

"Baseball and football serve a large number of individual students and have large spectator appeal, which is important to morale in war-time," the committee declared. "These sports are governed by agreements already established with other institutions and are also being fostered by the armed services in training camps."

OHIO TOURNAMENTS TO DRAW CREAM OF NATION'S GOLFERS

Inverness Classic and $5,000 Mahoning Open Scheduled Next Month.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 7 — A couple of pots of gold, containing some $12,000, are buried at the ends of a golfing rainbow in Toledo and Youngstown and the nation's "play for pay" brigade will breeze in next month to capture the coin.

The fixtures, two of the top spots on the tournament tour mapped for the pat-battering professionals, are the Toledo Inverness four-ball invitational (prize list about $7,000) and the Mahoning Valley Open offering $5,000.

The Inverness classic, in which 16 of the nation's top-flight swingers will compete in pairs over a four-day round-robin match play route, starts June 11. The Mahoning Valley, a 72-hole medal play race with no one barred, is scheduled June 26, 27 and 28, with 18 holes the first two days, and 36 the final day when the field will be cut to the low 60 professionals and the 15 best Simon Pures.

Hogan, Demaret Paired

Benny Hogan and Jimmy Demaret, the torrid Texans who copped the Inverness first prize last year, are partners again this season. Other pairings are Byron Nelson and long-hitting Jimmy Thomson; Horton Smith and Melvin (Chick) Harbert, and Henry Picard and Sam Byrd, the former big league outfielder. Other Inverness entrants, not yet paired, are Jimmy Hines, Herman Barron, Lloyd Mangrum, Lawson Little, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, Denny Shute, Herman Keiser and Chandler Harper.

Harper, who holds the world record of 58 strokes for an 18-hole round over Glenshealah course at Portsmouth, Va., paired with Keiser to win the Miami four ball matches last winter.

Big, blonde Clayton Heafner, the talented farmer from Linville, N. C., will be back at Youngstown for another crack at the $1200 first prize—if he's back in the good graces of the P. G. A. by that time, and hasn't been inducted into the army.

On Black List

Heafner was not permitted to qualify this week for the P. G. A. national tournament, following charges of "violation of the ethics of the game," which he said arose from picking up his ball on the eighth hole of one of the southern tournaments, and a resultant argument with another player in the courthouse.

Last year Heafner rapped out a 276 total—four under par—to win the Mahoning Valley event.

Some 175 to 200 pros and amateurs are expected for the Youngstown feature, and Pete Wellman, who is pulling up the $5,000 prize, has pledged half of the gate receipts profits to the Red Cross.

The entire Inverness field, with games at razor edge after the four-day round-robin, will move over to the Youngstown meet. About 20 per cent of each prize is expected to be paid off in war stamps and bonds.

CELEBRATE?

CHICAGO, May 7 — Jimmy Dykes, skipper of those floundering Chicago White Sox, can celebrate tomorrow, if he feels so inclined—the eighth anniversary of his appointment as Sox manager.

He succeeded Lew Fonseca on May 8, 1934. The Sox then went in last place with four wins and 10 losses. Today their plight is even worse—4 wins and 18 losses. Nine of the defeats came by one run. Yesterday it was two, in extra innings.

SNATCHES OF SPORTS

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist

NEW YORK, May 7—Speaking, perhaps, with a touch of prejudice aroused by recent events, James J. (I always have a story for you) Johnston, argues that there's no such thing as a punch-drunk fighter...Some of the boys reported that Abe Simon's recent retirement was a result of his desire to avoid taking one punch too many. Says Jimmy: "Look at all the sparring partners; look at the guys who used to fight 20 rounds in every fight...Look at all the punches they took...The only ones that act queer had something wrong with them all the time only it didn't show up while they were in fighting shape. They never begin to act punchy until they let themselves get out of condition."... Says Jimmy (does he ever stop?): "By the way, Larry Atkins is here offering $25,000 for Bob Pastor to fight Harry Bobo at Cleveland in June."

Sportspourri — Young Jim Bagby reports that his puppy didn't tell him about pitching. He says all he learned from Jim, senior, was how to throw a screwball and that the way to learn how to pitch was by experience...Al Buck, the New York Post fight expert, is due to go into the army soon. Then it'll be a case of Private Buck, Buck Private...When Kjell Qvale, former U. of Washington track captain now a cadet at the Corpus Christi, Tex., Naval Air station, was timed in 9.2 seconds for a 100-yard dash recently, officials decided 9.4 would be a more reasonable time. But they say it wasn't because they didn't believe their eyes but because there was a slight wind at his back.

Today's Guest Star—Jesse Linthicum, Baltimore Sun: "We learn that Ted Szpkowski is a $50,000 find and Shag Shaughnessy is said to have placed that kind of a ticket on him. Gosh, Shag is careless spending the major league's money."

Quote, Unquote — Schoolboy Rowe (after four days in the National league): "If the boys are putting on a show for me, they can stop. I've seen enough to believe what I used to hear about them in the papers." (He saw three managers and five or six players bounced.)

Today's Guest Star — Tommy Tucker, Cleveland News: "A fellow named Chakravarthi Rajagopalachariar, former president of the India National Congress, has just resigned from the congress working committee. Fordham probably has offered him more money to play guard on its football team."

LOS ANGELES — Babe Herman, one-time Dodger outfielder, has contracted to supply Hollywood's famed Brown Derby restaurant with all their turkeys from his farm.

SHUT OUT FACES NEW TEST IN RICH PIMLICO EVENT

Will Show Whether Derby Victory Was Earned or Result of Luck.

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE, May 7—Shut Out—plucky hero or lucky bum?

That's up to Mrs. Payne Whitney's Kentucky Derby winner to prove in the Preakness Stakes at Pimlico Saturday when the field of ten goes after the richest pot in the history of the race and a large portion of prestige.

You can find plenty of people willing to argue and wager both ways. Those who favor Shut Out as a "hero" point that Equipoise's son came up to the Derby with a pretty good record, that he stuck it out at the finish when the pressure was on, that it was his number they pointed first and that his victims included most of the top-flight three-year-olds.

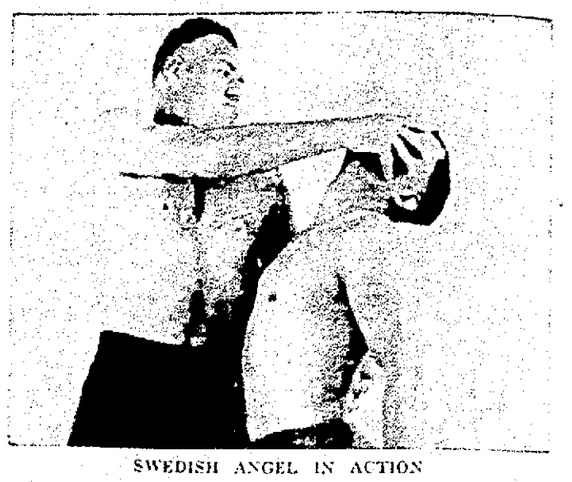
And those who call him a "lucky bum" contend that if he hadn't been coupled with his stablemate, Devil Diver, he'd have been a longshot and most of the good colts he beat had plenty of trouble along the way.

Well, Shut Out will face most of those fellows again in the mile and three-sixteenths Preakness, along with two or three more he hasn't met yet, and he and Jockey Wayne Wright will be in there pitching to show they weren't foolin' at Churchill Downs.

But their opposition in this canter, if all go, promises to be even tougher than in the Derby.

There'll be three fresh horses in against Shut Out and his stablemate, Devil Diver. They are Warren Wright's Sun Again, which never has run a bad race; R. Sterling Clark's Colchis, never out of the money until the Wood Memorial, and Louis B. Mayer's Domingo, Englishbred war refugee which won his maiden victory at Jamaica this week.

Swedish Giant on Mat Card



SWEDISH ANGEL IN ACTION

A throwback to the Neanderthal man, the famed Swedish Angel is slated to appear on the weekly Armory pad show tonight against undefeated Nick Billings the Birmingham, Ala., bad boy.

The Angel has fought in rings throughout the country and before coming to this country appeared in continental Europe fight shows. He stands six-feet, two-inches, weighs 220 pounds and has a head three times normal size. In addition he is about the world's ugliest man. Pictures don't tell the half of it. Despite his freakish size and appearance, he is far from a freak once inside the ring.

He is the man Promoter Les Fishbaugh has sought for several months to oppose bulky Billings, the Greek. Billings has whipped the best of the fighters to appear here this year and has had equal success in mat programs throughout the state. Last week he defeated Rufus Jones, the New York Negro, scoring the third and deciding fall in less than 45 seconds.

He likes nothing better than a shaggy fight filled with plenty of low punches, biting, kicking, gouging, and you name it. In the Swedish Angel he undoubtedly will find an equal along this line of the game.

This bout will be over a two-hour route with two falls necessary for a decision.

In the one-hour semi-final Tony Ross, the popular athletic-ly-built Texas youth, is matched against Buck Davidson of Sun Valley, Idaho. Davidson last appeared here about eight years ago. Since then he has fought almost entirely in the western states. Ross, who will be making his third start here, will enter a heavy favorite with a win over Lefty Oacer and a draw previously with Joe Marsh of Toronto, Ontario, Canada.

Scheduled to meet in the 30-minute preliminary at 8:30 are Sailor Olsen of Boston and Billy Venerable of Texas.

Marion Co. Track Meet at Prospect Tomorrow; Preliminaries Rained Out

... Favored To Break Prospect's Eight-Year ... onship Regime.

... Curry of Pleasant and C. Sencer of Prospect.

Because of the few entries no run off was necessary in the high school 100-yard dash. Those who will enter the event tomorrow are Horne of Pleasant, Bibler of Morral, Jim Cusic of Pleasant, Doerrill of Prospect, Porterfield of Waldo and Roberts of Morral.

Because of poor weather all other preliminaries previously scheduled will be cancelled, Director Keller said today. In events where preliminaries were considered necessary, a system of heats will be conducted with the best times winning points.

Coach Merron Porter's strong Pleasant thinclad squad is favored to replace Prospect as county champion. Prospect has won the title eight years in a row and has failed to lose a dual meet over the same period. Last year the Keller coached Prospect team won the Central district Class B title climaxing a great campaign.

Following are Marion county high school track records.

CHICAGO CUB FANS LIKE LOU NOVIKOFF

Mad Russian Causes Jimmie Wilson Added Woe.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO—One of the few fans Rookie Lou Novikoff has made this season has been a tremendously big one with Cub fans.

Maybe it's that mendacker—the Mad Russian—that gets 'em. At any rate Loquacious Lou has got the boys and girls about as goo-goo over him as they were over Dizzy Dean a few years back.

Some 20,000 of his public roared so loud and long for him Sunday that Manager Jim Wilson decided it was time to make him a regular or get out of town.

The Russian got placed a .363 for Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast league in 1940 and the Cubs grabbed him pronto. He flopped in his early days as a Cub, was sent to Milwaukee and later recalled. But he has stayed around .250 thus far getting a chance now and then against a southpaw pitcher.

Wilson still is wearing cotton after the fans gave him an earful. On Friday, Novikoff started against the Giants' portsider Dave Koslo. Koslo was knocked out in the first and a righthander came in. Novikoff was ready to face him when Wilson shoved in Phil Cavaretta. The boos were deafening.

On Sunday, the Russian was sent up to pinch hit against the Phils in the eighth. He delivered a single to bring home the only Cub run. The roar kinked the girders.

"Twenty thousand fans can't be wrong," said the staggered Wilson. "I knew he could hit against lefties and I figured to bring him along gradually. I was on the verge of making him a regular before all this public clamor came up."

"Chee, I did not know I was so liked," beamed Novikoff. "Botcha. I knock the hide right off that old apple now. Gonna try hard to do my best I think."

ALIKE IN NAME

This is Joe DeMaggio, Los Angeles City College centerfielder who bats .325. He formerly spelled name "DiMaggio" and thinks he may be related to the New York Yankees' slugging outfielder.

NETTERS AT WORK

By International News Service

AMES, Ia. — Fundamentals occupy the time of the Iowa State tennis squad. Coach Harry J. Schmidt expects to use Dick Young of Waterloo, Ia., as a nucleus for the Iowa State varsity team. Both these men are veterans and Ken Lonelson of Ames and James Munro of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., are newcomers. Schmidt rates Milt Saltzman of Sioux City and Dick Bianco of Des Moines as possible fourth place men.

MAY LOSE MEETS

By International News Service

DENVER — Colorado may be without a major tennis tournament this year, as a result of the equipment shortage. Sam D. Milstein, a leader in arranging Denver meets, said that if they are not cancelled, they may instead be combined into a single tournament. The intermountain, state and city meets are the main ones on the Colorado schedule annually.

War To Affect Racing

Jockey Hilton Dabson Predicts Shortage of Saddles, Silks, Boots and Stable Equipment.

By Wide World Feature Service

BALTIMORE — As Jockey Hilton Dabson sees it, things are none too bright for the little fellows who boot the horses home—and "Dabbie" ought to know, for his sideline is supplying equipment to other riders.

Dabson predicted the war would cause a saddle shortage, change the costume of jockeys and bring difficulty in obtaining much other equipment necessary around the horse barns and tack rooms of the race tracks.

"In less than a year racing will face a severe shortage of saddles and the situation may become serious enough to halt the sport entirely," said the Maryland jockey who has been in the equipment business for half a dozen years.

"Should the government consider racing a necessity and give us priorities on leather and other material, it still would be hard to get the products manufactured."

Dabson said there were not more than five men in the United States who could make a tree, or wooden frame, for a saddle weighing less than three pounds and they were working on army equipment.

"The factories which make regular saddles can produce trees for racing saddles weighing over three pounds but it's the light ones which are in demand," he added.

Dabson said that within a year jockeys probably would be wearing broadcloth instead of silks with the stable colors made of plain cloth, and boots entirely black instead of trimmed with brown leather, for the latter "cannot be purchased."

Moreover, the rubber shortage is being felt.

"Right now it's impossible to buy reducing suits or the rubber pants and blouses which lightweight riders wear in the rain," Dabson explained.

"Several of the boys have rubber suits that are still serviceable, but you'll see some of the veterans hit the road to take off overweight in plain woolen suits in the future.

"Of course, the jockeys aren't the only ones who are going to feel the pinch the next six months.

"Trainers and owners will find difficulty in getting stable equipment such as water buckets, rubber boots, blankets, and so on."

Even the horses will be affected.

Elastic girths which hold saddles in place and yet permit horses to breathe easily are no longer manufactured. Trainers will have to go back to the old cloth and leather belly-bands — which aren't so comfy for the hay-burners.

Stock and bond sales yesterday: stocks 267,890, bonds 6,573,000.

STORM HITS OHIO TOWN

By The Associated Press

HILLSBORO, O., May 7—Overnight high winds damaged virtually every building in the near-by Highland county hamlet of New Petersburg. Roofs were lifted, the chimney of a schoolhouse toppled onto a nearby garage and a school bus was wrecked by the storm which disrupted telephone and electric service. Damage was unofficially estimated at $25,000.

British agriculture is being mechanized; twice as many tractors are now being used as three years ago.

YOUR HEALTH

Ether

About one hundred years ago right this week some strange news was going about among the doctors in Georgia. A country practitioner in Jefferson, Georgia, had operated on March 30, 1842, and had used ether to put the patient to sleep and had removed some tumors from his neck without any pain on the part of the patient.

The doctor was Crawford Williamson Long, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania Medical Department. He was then 26 years old and had only been in practice for a few years. This was the first time that ether had ever been deliberately used as a planned procedure for the purpose of making a patient unconscious and unaware of pain during a surgical operation. Indeed, except for a few sporadic and dubious trials at one time or another through the ages, it was the first time any agent had ever been used for that purpose.

Surgery before that must have been a horror to watch and to experience. The great thing about any operation was to get it over as fast as possible. He was the best operator who was the quickest. Sometimes opium and brandy were used and hypnotism was tried. The great French surgeon, Dupuytren, once made an insulting remark to a lady patient and when she fainted away from sensitiveness, operated on her before she had time to regain consciousness. But no method had been proved to be satisfactory.

When Dr. Long was a student in Philadelphia, he and some other students used to inhale ether because they found its effects exhilarating, and when he started in practice in Jefferson some young men asked him to give them some laughing gas in order that they could have a good time at a party. He substituted ether and they found that it caused more liveliness than either laughing gas or brandy.

In fact, parties which were called "ether frolics" became quite the vogue. Dr. Long noticed that some of these young gentlemen under ether, while laughing around, would injure themselves quite severely but appeared to take no notice of the pain. In this way the idea occurred to him that ether could be deliberately used to induce insensibility in surgical operations.

Early in March, in 1842, 100 years ago, his opportunity presented itself. A young man named James M. Venable had some tumors on his neck which he wanted removed but this he had postponed on account of the dread of pain involved. Dr. Long suggested to him that he could put him to sleep with ether and he would feel no pain. In his little office in a brick building which is still standing in Jefferson, Georgia, this was accomplished in the presence of witnesses who were friends of Mr. Venable.

Later Dr. Long operated on Mr. Venable again for the removal of other tumors on his neck, and during the year 1842 he operated several times under ether for such things as the amputation of a toe, all of which are a matter of record.

Dr. Long did not make his discovery known to the medical world until after ether had been used in public for an operation in 1846 at the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston. This has somewhat dimmed the fame of his credit, but it is curious for us today to think that this great boon to mankind is so young as to be only 100 years old.

Madge Asks To See Gangsters Before Starting Her Return Trip to New York, But Gus Protests.

I PUT DOWN with an iron hand the elation I felt at the news Gus brought that my vigil was ended. I needed all my poise and focused attention for the details of our journey back to New York. I could not even spend a second in malicious satisfaction in the knowledge of Jack Bickett's masquerade which I mean to display when I should be back in my father's armored car and well started on our way.

"Where's the captain?" I asked.

"Getting ready to go to the hospital with his men. They're taking the one that was wounded down there, but he's coming over here for a minute first, he says. There he is now."

I looked around Professor Diswell's living room to make sure that I had left no stray glove or handkerchief or scrap of paper in it.

All Ready to Go

Then I opened my purse and made sure that the carved ivory cube which my mother had given long ago to Jack Bickett, and which I had found in the secret floor compartment of the adjoining room, was where I had thrust it, wrapped in a handkerchief, when Sadie's telephone call with its revelation of Professor Diswell's call from "Shawn Rue" interrupted my debate with myself as to what I should do with it.

I had time only for a mental comment that my discovery of Jack's masquerade as Charles, Professor Diswell's servant, had solved that problem for me, before the captain of the state troopers appeared on the doorstep. Close at his heels came one of his men, who stepped to one side while his superior officer talked to me.

"All ready to go, I see," the captain said. "I hope Sadie was helpful."

There was no curiosity in his tone, and I sensed that he was in a hurry to get his wounded man to the hospital. Therefore, I made my reply brief.

"Very helpful, indeed," I said emphatically. "What she said solved a puzzling problem for me."

"I'm glad of that," he said. "Now if you're ready, Smith, here will take charge of the cottage."

"That is fine," I said, moving away from the door and holding out my hand. "And I do want to thank you, Captain, for myself and my father, for all you have done."

"It's all in the day's work, you know," he said, shaking my hand cordially.

"But I trust you do not have such strenuous work every day," I countered, smiling.

"No, we don't," he admitted with an answering smile. "But we have had worse days than this. Now if you'll just come this way, you can come back up here when Branchman brought the two men back who impersonated the old man and his wife. They certainly did a good job, didn't they?"

"Very skillful work," I agreed. Then I was walking by his side through the perennial garden and the wild flower garden to the cleared space in the woods where my father's armored car had been hidden before I first knocked at Professor Diswell's door.

Gus Makes a Protest

Five cars stood there, two of the state troopers, the smaller one of the Warren store keeper, Branchman, my father's armored car, and the other bigger one, also armored, which had brought the four gangsters to the rendezvous with two of their number who had come first to the cottage and bound and gagged the old professor and Jack, before making up to impersonate them.

"I want to look at the captured men before I go," I told the captain.

Before he could answer, Gus, just behind me, sounded an agonized protest.

"Dont' you do that, Missis Graham. Your father, he would not like that. Those men, they see you and they blame you for what has happened to them. They always remember that. And if they don't get out for a hundred years, they never forget, and they always watch for a chance to get even with you."
